Great Seaport Of Nice Taken By U. S. Forces

Yanks Moving Steadily Toward Italian Border In Latest Drive

ENTRY INTO NICE IS WITHOUT OPPOSITION

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Aug. 31.—American forces pounding north-eastward along the French Riviera toward the Italian frontier have occupied the great seaport of Nice, toward which Benito Mussolini cast envious eyes just before his declaration of war on France in 1940. Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson announced today.

The Yanks, moving through Nice toward an eventual junction with their comrades in northern Italy, were slowed up by extensive minefields.

Population Of 242,000
Nice, one of the most popular resort towns of the French Riviera, has a normal peacetime population of 242,000.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that Gen. Wilson, in a two-day tour of southern France, conferred with Lieut. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, commander of the American Seventh Army, and attended a victory parade of French troops in Marseille.

The Yanks entered Nice unopposed. The largest city in the Riviera was damaged chiefly in its harbor area.

A portion of the German 19th Army retreating up the Rhone valley managed to reach Lyon, Gen. Wilson revealed, but suffered heavy losses in the last few days.

PA NEWC Observes

On exhibit in the display case in the entrance hall of the public library are articles of handicraft made by the children of the playgrounds during the past summer. Each of the articles is marked with the name of the maker and the school.

The first Dewey badge of the political season was seen today on the lapel of Mayor John F. Haven. It is an unusual political badge, a plastic "V" in red, white and blue, with "Dewey" in gold-plated wire superimposed upon it. To use an old-time expression, it's a nifty.

There are a lot of street signs painted on posts at street intersections in New Castle that are in need of touching up. Some of the signs could easily be improved while others would probably have to be entirely repainted.

If all the fresh white paint that has been put on houses in all parts of the city during the past few months were laid end to end it would make a long, long river, there are so many houses that are sporting glistening new white coats.

Invitations were received here today by a number of local citizens for the dedication of the new recreation and athletic field at the Deshon hospital, Butler, and also the new patients' recreation building. The activities start at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, September 5.

Thursday, city employees were at work on West avenue on the east side, filling in the ruts and putting the street in good shape again. There is much traffic on this short street, and it is hard to keep in good condition as an ashy street.

See Possibility Of Defeat Of Japan By Blockade Plan

By CAPTAIN JOHN H. CRAIG
(Written Especially For International News Service)

While the war in Europe continues its sensational development in favor of the Allies, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz's recent statement that Japan might be beaten by America in the war of the Pacific without invasion of the Japanese homeland, signals the most modern revival of the ancient military theory of war of attrition, with victory won by means of the blockade. The admiral's statement has been the subject of wide comment, but it should be no news to readers of this column. As long ago as June 1st, last, it was noted here that the Pacific war was assuming a strategic pattern that might render ultimate invasion of the main Japanese islands unnecessary.

The reason why this is true lies in the fact that it is extremely improbable that Japan can continue long to fight when her communications by sea with her ill-gotten empire to the south are cut. They will be severed when American air and naval forces are established on Luzon, key strategic island of the Philippines.

Depends On Imports
Eighty-five per cent of all Japan's oil and petroleum products come from the conquered Dutch East Indies and Burma. They must be transported by water to Nippon. The Japs are now making a desperate effort to establish land communications via China with their oil fields in occupied lands. But even if such communications were opened, the oil they could transport would be only a drop in the bucket.

Objectives of the advocates of attrition war are to starve, harass and strangle the foe, progressively. Their

New Disasters Threaten Reich

Romania Discusses Peace Terms—Slovakia Rages In Full-Scale Revolt

REPORT BULGARIA SEEKS ARMISTICE

By THURSTON MACAULEY
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Aug. 31.—The toppling Reich is threatened with new disasters today as Romanian delegates in Moscow discuss peace terms, the puppet state of Slovakia rages in full-scale revolt, and Bulgaria reportedly prepares for an armistice. A reuter report from Cairo told of the arrival of a Bulgarian armistice commission there and said they were met by a group of civilian and military Allied Balkan experts.

It was previously reported that Lincoln McVeag, U. S. ambassador to Yugoslavia and Greece, and Lord Moyne, British minister of State in the Middle East, would head the Allied delegation negotiating the armistice.

Consider Terms

Preliminary work on the terms was reported completed after conferences both with Prime Minister Winston Churchill and representatives of the Soviet government and a Bulgarian reply is anticipated within a few days.

Announcement of the arrival of the Romanian armistice commission in Russia was announced over the Moscow radio. Prince Stirbey, leading Romanian peace advocate, was reported with the delegation, as was Lucretia Patranescu, minister of justice, and several other officials.

HEAR REPORT GOERING HELD AS PRISONER

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(INS)—A CBS correspondent in Bern today quoted a diplomat from Berlin as "confirming" an earlier report that Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering is a prisoner of the Gestapo on suspicion of participating in the anti-Hitler plots last month.

The correspondent said that the Gestapo has purged the ranks of Goering's underlings and executed the editors of his newspaper, the Essener National Zeitung, while holding the marshal in custody at his mansion near Berlin.

He also quoted his informant, "who enjoys very high connections in the Wilhelmstrasse," as asserting that Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop's staff also has been purged, with 72 members of the bureau imprisoned.

Russian Forces Smashing Way Into Bucharest

Report Red Army Legions Are Already In Environs Of Romanian Capital

PLOESTI OIL FIELDS FALL TO RUSSIANS

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Aug. 31.—Conquering Red army legions smashed their way today into the environs of Romania's capital city, Bucharest, today, following the capture of Ploesti and the fabulously rich oil well regions which until yesterday fed Adolf Hitler's war machine.

The Russian army newspaper Red Star, in a dispatch from the Romanian front, said the swift advance of the Soviets had prevented the large-scale destruction of oil refineries, stores and industrial plants in the Ploesti region by the Germans. The Nazis were said to have had little opportunity to destroy any of these establishments, many of which are unimpaired.

Two mighty Russian armies swept forward more than 40 miles in one day to overrun more than 300 towns and villages of southern Romania.

Change In Plan For Occupation Of Germany Forecast

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—An important change in Anglo-American plans for the military occupation of Germany is understood today to be under consideration by the American and British governments. It is now proposed that American, British and other western European Allied forces should jointly occupy two thirds of German territory in the west.

The original plan called for the division of Germany into three occupational zones, with American, British and Soviet forces each occupying a separate zone.

The Soviet government still prefers separate Russian occupation of the zone allotted to it. In view of

Serbia-Bosnia Communication Lines Are Cut

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Yugoslav partisans have cut German communications between Serbia and Bosnia, Marshal Tito's communique said today.

The communique, broadcast by the Free Yugoslav radio, added that partisan forces fighting in Macedonia had captured the stronghold of Berovik and cleared the area of upper Macedonia of the enemy. On the Kikos-Douat communications line, Macedonian and Albanian units routed two German Quisling columns which attempted a breakthrough to liberated Liskopeja.

Other Yugoslav troops attacked Grabac, a strong German center in Lika which controls communications between northern Dalmatia and Lika. Fierce fighting is raging against units of the 373rd German division.

Gen. Eisenhower Discusses Progress Of Drive In France

By JOSEPH THOMAS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Aug. 31.—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander-in-chief of all Allied forces in Europe, revealed today at a news conference that Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery and Lieut. Gen. Omar N. Bradley are now playing what he termed "separate but co-ordinate parts" in Allied operations in France.

As a result of the new arrangement, Gen. Bradley, commander of the American Twelfth Army group, which includes Lieut. Gen. Courtney Hodges First Army and Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton Jr.'s Third Army, is now on a par with Gen. Montgomery, who will continue as commander of all British forces in the field.

Fifth Year Of War In Europe Draws To Close

Avalanche Of Defeats Is Pouring Down On Nation Which Started War

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(U. S. Foreign Editor)

The fifth year of armed conflict in Europe drew to a close today amidst an avalanche of defeats for Nazi Germany, whose brown and grey-clad gunmen fired the first shells into virtually defenseless Poland on September 1, 1939.

Amiens, Bucharest and Nice were the once powerful outposts of aggressive Nazi power that came into the hands of, or within reaching distance of, United Nations armies in another day packed with news of rapid-fire advances toward the inner defenses of Germany.

Bucharest Capture Near
Russian troops pounded into the suburbs of Bucharest and the Romanian capital's occupation was imminent. But even more spectacular was disclosure of a two-day 60-mile drive by Lieut. Gen. Sir Miles Christopher Dempsey's Second Army in France, which carried the British into the Somme river city of Amiens and forecast early immobilization of the German robot bomb coast in the Pas De Calais area of France.

The breathtaking speed of Dempsey's advance once he tore his way through crumbling Nazi defenses promised to equal or exceed that of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., toward the frontier of Belgium, now only 26 miles away.

Communications Center

Amiens is but 40 miles from Abbeville at the mouth of the Somme and Abbeville in turn is the communications center for the whole region used by the Nazis for the launching platforms and other paraphernalia used for hurling their aimless flying bombs into London and Southern England.

After taking Amiens, Dempsey may head north for Abbeville or he may break ahead in a straight line

Airlines Warn Against Hasty Postwar Move

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Seventeen domestic airlines today touched off their fight against a postwar monopoly in international flying with a warning against "hasty congressional action" which might deny the United States "the high place in international air transport to which it is entitled."

Surrender Only Peace Terms For Defeated Nazis

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The Allied demand for unconditional surrender was backed in congress today in the wake of intimations by Lieut. Gen. Kirt Dittmar, German radio propagandist, that the Nazis seek peace on a less harsh basis.

While the policy of demanding unconditional surrender has been questioned at times, many senators of both political parties predicted that Hitler had but one choice—surrender.

Peace Feelers

The position of congress was expressed as Secretary of State Hull said Dittmar's address indicated that Hitler and his henchmen were putting out peace feelers in the face of defeat and declared there can be nothing but unconditional surrender.

"I have read the broadcast of Lieut. Gen. Dittmar of the German army," said Sen. McKellar (D) Tenn. "It is a very earnest plea for peace, but we cannot afford to make

HUGE STREAM OF ALLIED BOMBERS CROSSES CHANNEL

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Continental Europe quaked again today when, for the second time in 24 hours, huge formations of daylight bombers crossed the English channel in a steady stream headed for enemy targets which apparently included rocket bomb emplacements.

The assaults got under way in the morning and continued through the afternoon when a large force of bombers streaked over the coast and disappeared toward the "V-I coast." Preceding the attacks was a heavy night assault by RAF Mosquitos upon the German industrial city of Frankfurt.

British Advance Rivals Speed Of Patton's Forces

Extensive Bridgehead Is Established Over River Somme By British

PATTON 26 MILES FROM BELGIUM

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 31.—In a dramatic Anglo-American race for the Belgian border, British troops of Lieut. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's Second Army today captured the vital city of Amiens and established an extensive bridgehead over the River Somme.

The Germans' robot bomb coast in the Pas De Calais area of France is threatened with immobilization and isolation.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced that original occupation of Amiens by British armor was followed up speedily by sizeable infantry forces which poured into the Somme river city.

Patton 26 Miles From Belgium
The British thus rivaled the speed of the United States Third Army under Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., now reported only 26 miles from the Belgian frontier.

Since midday yesterday, Dempsey's army has advanced 27 miles, and in the last 48 hours, no less than 60 miles have been covered.

The smash to Amiens represented the first time that British forces really have cut loose since the beachhead landings last June 6.

From the town of Gournay, headquarters revealed, the British advanced to Villers-Vermont, threatening to cut the whole department of Pas De Calais itself.

A Canadian right hook has cut the Tienen-Dieppe road nine miles north of Rouen, where some enemy opposition still is being encountered.

Canadian patrols are in Rouen, which the Nazis previously announced they had abandoned.

Liberate Amiens
The columns which liberated Amiens drove along the two main roads west of the Somme—one through Grand-Villiers and the other through Catheux.

Amiens itself lies about 60 miles from the Belgian frontier, but only a brief stop at the Somme bridge-

London Paper Says Churchill Prepares To Meet Roosevelt

LONDON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The London Daily Sketch said today that Prime Minister Churchill is preparing for another series of conferences with President Roosevelt, and that plans for the occupation of Germany have been almost completed.

One important point that has not yet been decided, the newspaper said, concerns the respective zones of the Reich to be taken over by the Allies. There is also a possibility, according to the Daily Sketch, that France may also be given a section of Germany to police.

BROWNELL SEES MIDWEST SWEEP

G.O.P. National Chairman Foresees
Dewey Victory In Midwestern
States

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—(INS)—A solid sweep of the Midwest by the Dewey-Bricker ticket was envisioned by Republican National Chairman Herbert Brownell, Jr., as he conferred with Young Republican leaders.

Brownell's prediction of victory from the Alleghenies to the Rockies was voiced following a series of conferences with GOP leaders in Chicago and by long-distance telephone.

The prediction was tempered by a reservation—that the Republican sweep of the central states appears certain "providing our organization continues with the unity and enthusiasm shown to date."

President Roosevelt's announced plan for a political speech Sept. 23 was interpreted by Brownell as evidence that "the Republican trend is stronger than the president believed."

Discussing the claim of Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan that the New Deal will carry certain midwestern states, Brownell said, "he'll have to travel far and wide to find any electoral votes for the New Deal."

Brownell conferred in Chicago with Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois and Gov. B. B. Hickenlooper of Iowa. He spoke by telephone with Gov. Edward J. Thye of Minnesota, Mrs. Dudley O. Hay, national committee member from Michigan, and National Committeeman Lew Wentz of Oklahoma and Roy Dunne of Minnesota.

Army Casualties Are Announced

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Acting Secretary of War Robert Patterson announced today that the severe fighting in Normandy has resulted in a sharp increase in American casualties.

Patterson said that the latest report—covering the last weeks of July—reveals that over-all casualties had increased by 23,249.

Of the total reported, 4,221 were killed and the remainder of the 23,249 wounded, missing and prisoners.

"This largely reflects a period of heaviest fighting in northern France near the end of July," Patterson said.

Total army casualties up to Aug. 13, were placed by Patterson at 284,838 dead, wounded, missing and prisoners.

The total included 53,101 killed, 142,686 wounded, 44,643 missing and 44,408 prisoners.

The casualties in southern France were reported by Patterson as light up to Aug. 24, they included 1,247 killed and missing and 5,090 wounded.

Patterson stressed the need for increased production of heavy war equipment to insure the present lightning pace of the war in Europe.

Report Three New Paralysis Cases

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Three new cases of infantile paralysis and one death were reported today by Pittsburgh's health department, bringing to 140 the number of cases since the current outbreak June 7.

A break down of the figures showed 74 cases originated in the city, 38 in Allegheny county outside Pittsburgh and 28 in nearby counties, including one from Ohio.

There have been 12 deaths from the dread disease.

In DuBois, where there have been no cases of infantile paralysis reported, the city commissioners, acting as the board of health, clamped down a 9 p. m. curfew upon all persons 19 years of age in an effort to prevent the disease from entering the city.

including Ploesti itself, the second-ranking city of Romania. The position, such as it was, was provided by the Germans, engaged in a desperate attempt to fight their way out of a now hostile country.

Far to the north other Soviet forces launched a new drive apparently aimed at outflanking Warsaw and ramming a salient between the Polish capital and East Prussia. Seven large towns and a number of smaller localities were seized below Lomza, 70 miles north-northeast of Warsaw, near industrial suburb four miles northeast of the capital, were repulsed.

Large Scale Offensive

German reports said that the Russians had launched a large-scale offensive which had broken through Nazi defenses at several points between the Warsaw area and the northern frontier of East Prussia.

The Nazis admitted a general retreat by their forces in Romania and also conceded that Romanian troops were fighting under Soviet command. The Germans also acknowledged that Soviet troops are driving toward the border of Hungary.

Occupation of Ploesti and the surrounding oilfields was carried out by the Second Ukrainian army, commanded by Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky.

The Ploesti region, second only to the Russian caucuses as a producer of petroleum, had a capacity of nearly 10 million tons of oil per year before it was subject to Allied bombings and was estimated to have furnished at least one-third of Germany's supply of high-grade fuel and lubricant oil and gasoline.

The Nazis in their fight put the torch to dozens of Romanian towns and villages, so bitter are they against them. The Danube port of Galati was reported in flames, with lakes of burning oil floating down to the Black Sea.

The Ploesti fields fell to the Russians a year and a month after the first bombing of the oil-well region by American Liberators bombers flying from bases in the Middle East.

"I hope the Allies will not entertain any proposals for peace until the Germans have completely surrendered and her country is occupied by the Russian, American and British armies."

The peace terms must make it perfectly clear that no part of her military system or her military organization shall remain to bring on another war.

Unconditional Surrender

Sen. George (D) Ga., said "I don't imagine the Allied nations can do anything but insist on unconditional surrender."

"Germany has no government except a military government," he added. "The basis for any hope of surrender, breaking up or destruction of German armies, army by army, division by division, in the absence of a government which is using the military in the usual way."

"The terms will have to be unconditional surrender," said Sen. Capper (R) Kan. "It looks like the end is approaching."

Sen. Shipstead (R) Minn., said "The basis of any peace, if it is worth anything, must be the kind that could be justified through the years. Any peace other than one that will be sustained through the years is an enforced peace. It is a difficult and delicate matter."

Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., characterized Gen. Dittmar's statements as indicating "the beginning of the end."

Dempsey has waited a long time to get going while Gen. Patton's American Third Army was tearing ahead over the battlefields of the last war, moving at a mile an hour south toward the Ardennes, the Argonne and the frontiers of Belgium and Germany.

With the British in Amiens and promising to put an early end to Northern France as a robot base, the Germans began to hint vaguely that their much-vaunted V-1 is already going out of action or in the process of reorganization. A Nazi DNB dispatch said:

UNION OFFICIALS FACING CHARGES

Conspiracy Is Charged To Officials
Of Union By Suit Filed
By Members

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Two officers of the AFL-United Association of Steamfitters, Welders and Helpers, Local 449, today were charged in federal court with conspiracy to deprive union members of "their full rights."

Leo A. Green, secretary-treasurer, and Joseph O'Toole, business agent, were named in the suit filed by Edward Crist and Kenneth Phillips in behalf of approximately 1,400 union members working on LSTs at the navy yard at the Blaw Knox Construction Company.

The action is a precedent for the many war workers who have joined unions as a condition of employment but have "never been accorded full rights," according to Attorney Hymen Schlesinger, who filed the suit.

The officers were accused of refusing to permit the workers to participate in contract negotiations with their employers, selection of additional shop stewards, disposition of union funds or to take any part in meetings of the local association of workers. The workers seek an accounting of union funds and the appointment of trustees.

There were many, many others in their 80's and those in their 70's were more numerous, it seemed.

Mayor Haven Speaks

Mr. Dana expressed regret that Judge W. Walter Abraham was unable to be present because of business in court, but welcomed the visitors in the name of the city and introduced Mayor John F. Haven, who extended further greetings.

Others who were near the top of the list, many of them folks who have been married for 50 years or more, included Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. After the grand march, the hours were spent in round and square dancing, with music being furnished by Emery's old time orchestra, and they tripped the light fantastic with feet made light by the memories of their youth for the balance of the afternoon, or sat about and talked over those dear old days with the friends of their youth. fore he came to England. At that time he said he thought Germany could be beaten in 1944 if everyone on the battlefield and home fronts did his duty to the full.

Hitherto, Gen. Montgomery has been commander of all Allied forces in the field in Northern France. Gen. Eisenhower emphasized the fact that the new arrangement was not a demotion for Gen. Montgomery, to whom he paid warm tribute as a close personal friend for whom he has great admiration.

Eisenhower declared that the colorful Montgomery is "one of the great soldiers of this or any other war." He ridiculed allegations of dissension within the Allied high command and repeatedly referred to his commanders as members of his "team."

The four-starred American general explained that Montgomery had been put in tactical control of the Allied landings in Northern France until the Allies were able to break out of the Normandy bridgehead and said that the new set-up does not mean that the Americans won't help the British or vice-versa.

Superb Teamwork

Superb teamwork, Eisenhower declared, "has existed and does exist" among all Allied commanders and troops. He said that never has any failed to carry out his assigned task to the limit of his ability.

Eisenhower explained why the Americans, rather than an Anglo-American force, went into Paris in the Paris sector when a request was made to rush troops to the French capital to "quieten" the city and establish control.

It was not an American parade, he said, but merely "a march and deployment through Paris toward the front to let Parisians see Allied might."

Regarding the future, Eisenhower reiterated the conviction that the Allies must go all the way through Germany to defeat the Nazis decisively and completely.

He said no decision had yet been made regarding the co-ordination of the command of Allied forces in Northern France and American forces moving up from the south.

Will Bottle Up Japs

Once American forces occupy Luzon, they will put a cork in the bottle-neck of the China sea and bring these vital importations to halt. The taking of Formosa and a few Chinese ports would help, but Luzon alone would probably do the job. With American bombers and light naval forces established there, hardly a trickle would get through. After that Japan could fight as long as her reserve supplies of oil held out, not a day longer.

That is the meaning, in terms of war's philosophy, of Admiral Nimitz's statement that an invasion of Japan's main islands may never be necessary. Attrition war may do the job to Uncle Sam's great profit.

the fact that military operations against Germany in the west are more of a joint Allied affair, it has been suggested that Anglo-American occupation of German territory should be mixed and include at least token forces of France, Belgium and the Netherlands. Gen. Charles De Gaulle, president of the French national liberation committee, has been insisting that French forces participate in the occupation of Germany.

The pros and cons of the suggestion for a joint Anglo-American and other Allied occupation of two thirds of Germany are now being considered. In some American quarters the view prevails that it probably would be easier for United States forces to handle the Germans in a separate "zone alone."

Would Extend U. S. Influence

On the other hand, joint occupation would extend American influence to a zone which is considered more important than the one originally allocated to the United States.

American forces were to take over southern areas of Germany, including Franconia and Bavaria.

WE'LL PICK UP Gasoline

"One of these days," he said, "we'll pick up a little gasoline."

Whether or not this was a reference to German gasoline stores in Belgium was not known.

Regarding the possibility of the Germans making a stand on the Siegfried Line, Eisenhower reminded reporters that no defensive line is better than the men defending it and pointed out that the Germans presently in France are not of over-all good quality. Those retreating, he added, are likely to be even more battered and bent than they are now.

Eisenhower said he believed the Germans would attempt to hold their Brittany ports at all costs and believed, they might eventually withdraw from Norway and Denmark when they find themselves in an untenable situation. He forecast, however, that the Allies will make it difficult for them but declared that liberated portions of France will be handed over to the French as quickly as possible, but that it would probably be a long job.

Roll Forward In Rhone Valley

In the Rhone valley the Allied advance rolled forward toward Valence and Lyon following stiff battles with the retreating Nazis just north of the Drome river at Livron.

French troops which crossed the Rhone pushed northward to the vicinity of Sanandrea, where they are meeting considerable Nazi resistance.

But it is in the Italo-French frontier passes that the Germans are putting up their most savage opposition.

Since the capture of Grenoble, Yank and Maquis forces have been bitterly fighting across half a dozen Alpine passes on the Allies' extreme right flank, while the Germans are defending Lyon in an effort to hold open their retreat routes to the north until Nazi reinforcements from Italy could punch through.

Some German units did succeed in fighting their way into Briancon, some 90 miles north of Nice and approximately an equal distance east of Livron, which lies in the Rhone valley on the way to Lyon.

A real slugfest took place north of Livron yesterday morning, but the enemy finally broke contact and withdrew in disorderly fashion in the afternoon.

Heavy fighting also was reported in the region of Zilina, chief railway junction of central Slovakia, at Považska Bystrica, south of Zilina and at Trenčín.

BROWNELL SEES MIDWEST SWEEP

G.O.P. National Chairman Foresees
Dewey Victory In Midwestern
States

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—(INS)—A solid sweep of the midwest by the Dewey-Bricker ticket was envisioned by Republican National Chairman Herbert Brownell, Jr., as he conferred with Young Republican leaders.

Brownell's prediction of victory from the Alleghenies to the Rockies was voiced following a series of conferences with GOP leaders in Chicago and by long-distance telephone.

The prediction was tempered by a reservation—that the Republican sweep of the central states appeared certain "providing our organization continues with the unity and enthusiasm shown to date."

President Roosevelt's announced plan for a political speech Sept. 23 was interpreted by Brownell as evidence that "the Republican trend is stronger than the president believed."

Discussing the claim of Democratic National Chairman Robert E. Hamegan that the New Deal will carry certain midwestern states, Brownell said, "he'll have to travel far and wide to find any electoral votes for the New Deal."

Brownell conferred in Chicago with Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois and Gov. B. B. Hickenlooper of Iowa. He spoke by telephone with Gov. Edward J. Thye of Minnesota, and Gov. Dudley O. Hay, national committeewoman from Michigan, and National Committeeman Lew Wentz of Oklahoma and Roy Dunne of Minnesota.

Army Casualties Are Announced

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Acting Secretary of War Robert Patterson announced today that the severe fighting in Normandy has resulted in a sharp increase in American casualties.

Patterson said that the latest report—covering the last weeks of July—revealed that over-all casualties had increased by 23,249.

Of the total reported, 4,221 were killed and the remainder of the 23,249 wounded, missing and prisoners. "This largely reflects a period of heaviest fighting in northern France near the end of July," Patterson said.

Total army casualties up to Aug. 13, were placed by Patterson at 284,838 dead, wounded, missing and prisoners.

The total included 53,101 killed, 142,686 wounded, 44,643 missing and 44,408 prisoners.

The casualties in southern France were reported by Patterson as light up to Aug. 24, they included 1,247 killed and missing and 5,090 wounded.

Patterson stressed the need for increased production of heavy war equipment to insure the present lightning pace of the war in Europe.

Report Three New Paralysis Cases

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Three new cases of infantile paralysis and one death were reported today by Pittsburgh's health department, bringing to 140 the number of cases since the current outbreak June 7.

A break down of the figures showed 74 cases originated in the city, 38 in Allegheny county outside Pittsburgh and 28 in nearby counties, including one from Ohio.

There have been 12 deaths from the dread disease. In DuBois, where there have been no cases of infantile paralysis reported, the city commissioners, acting as the board of health, clamped down a 9 p. m. curfew upon all persons 19 years of age in an effort to prevent the disease from entering the city.

including Ploesti itself, the second-ranking city of Romania. The opposition, such as it was, was provided by the Germans, engaged in a desperate attempt to fight their way out of a now hostile country.

Far to the north other Soviet forces launched a new drive, apparently aimed at outflanking Warsaw and ramming a salient between the Polish capital and East Prussia. Seven large towns and a number of smaller localities were seized below Lomza, 70 miles north-east of Warsaw. Nazi attacks near Pargia, industrial suburb four miles northeast of the capital, were repulsed.

Large Scale Offensive
(German reports said that the Russians had launched a large-scale offensive which had broken through Nazi defenses at several points between the Warsaw area and the southern frontier of East Prussia.)

(The Nazis admitted a general retreat by their forces in Romania and also conceded that Romanian troops were fighting under Soviet command. The Germans also acknowledged that Soviet troops are driving toward the border of Hungary.)

Occupation of Ploesti and the surrounding oilfields was carried out by the Second Ukrainian army commanded by Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky.

The Ploesti region, second only to the Russian caucuses as a producer of petroleum, has a capacity of nearly 10 million tons of oil per year before it was subject to Allied bombings and was estimated to have furnished at least one-third of Germany's supply of high-grade fuel and lubricant oil and gasoline.

The Nazis in their flight put the torch to dozens of Romanian towns and villages, so bitter are they at the action of their former ally turning against them. The Danube port of Galati was reported in flames, with lakes of burning oil floating down to the Black Sea.

The Ploesti fields fell to the Russians a year and a month after the first bombing of the oil-well region by American Liberator bombers flying from bases in the Middle East.

peace with Germany until she has completely surrendered and we have occupied her country.

"I hope the Allies will not entertain any proposals for peace until the Germans have completely surrendered and her country is occupied by the Russian, American and British armies.

"The peace terms must make it perfectly clear that no part of her military system or her military organization shall remain to bring on another war."

Unconditional Surrender

Sen. George (D) Ga., said "I don't imagine the Allied nations can do anything but insist on unconditional surrender."

"Germany has no government except a military government," he added. "The basis for any hope of surrender resolves itself into the capture, breaking up or destruction of German armies, 'army by army, division by division, in the absence of a government which is using the military in the usual way.'"

"The terms will have to be unconditional surrender," said Sen. Capper (R) Kan. "It looks like the end is approaching."

Sen. Shipstead (R) Minn., said "The basis of any peace, if it is worth anything, must be the kind that could be justified through the years. Any peace other than one that will be sustained through the years is an enforced peace. It is a difficult and delicate matter."

Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich., characterized Gen. Dittmar's statements as indicating "the beginning of the end."

front-cut the whole robot coast. Front-line dispatches disclosed that his troops already have severed several main roads and provoked confusion in the German communications.

Dempsey has waited a long time to get going while Gen. Patton's American Third Army was tearing ahead over the battlefields of the last war, moving at a mile an hour speed toward the Ardennes, the Argonne and the frontiers of Belgium and Germany.

With the British in Amiens and promising to begin an early end to Northern France as a robot base, the Germans began to hint vaguely that their much-vaunted V-1 is already going out of action or in the process of reorganization. A Nazi DNB dispatch said:

"The German V-1 is not tied to fixed bases and is adapting itself to the war of movement."

Germans Made Mistake
The 52-year-old American general declared the Germans made a mistake, fortunate for the Allies, when they decided to fight and fight it out in Normandy. He said that he personally felt that when the Germans found they couldn't throw the Allies back into the channel they should have established a more flexible defense.

Reviewing the battle of Normandy, Eisenhower said that after the first six or seven days after D-day, June 6, the battle was always in hand, developing just as the Allied leaders foresaw it would.

By "D-day-plus 85," Eisenhower declared, the Allies were well advanced in their plans for "D-day plus 90" which means Sept. 4. He did not amplify this remark.

Eisenhower breathed confidence regarding the future and paid tribute to the magnificent action fought by the British in the Caen area. He said he was unable to discuss the future but quipped that "we are going to have one."

"We'll Pick Up Gasoline"

"One of these days," he said, "we'll pick up a little gasoline."

UNION OFFICIALS FACING CHARGES

Conspiracy Is Charged To Officials
Of Union By Suit Filed
By Members

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Two officers of the AFL-United Association of Steamfitters, Welders and Helpers, Local 449, today were charged in federal court with conspiracy to deprive union members of "their full rights."

Leo A. Green, secretary-treasurer, and Joseph O'Toole, business agent, were named in the suit filed by Edward Crist and Kenneth Phillips in behalf of approximately 1,400 union members working on LST's for the navy at the Blaw Knox Construction Company.

The action is a precedent for the unions as a condition of employment but have "never been accorded full rights," according to Attorney Hymen Schlesinger, who filed the suit.

The officers were accused of refusing to permit the workers to participate in contract negotiations with their employers, selection of additional stewards, disposition of union funds or to take any part in meetings of the local as members. The workers seek an accounting of union funds and the appointment of trustees.

Judge R. M. Gibson set a hearing for next Thursday.

woman present was divided by Mrs. S. J. Rhodes of 1002 Highland avenue and Mrs. Elizabeth Farrell of Lorain avenue, both of whom are 90 years of age.

There were many, many others in their 80's and those in their 70's were mere children, it seemed.

The program got under way promptly at 1:30 o'clock, when President R. E. Davis called the assembly to order. The singing of America was led by Councilman D. O. Davies, following which Dr. John J. McIlwaine, pastor of the First Presbyterian church pronounced the invocation.

Mayor Haven Speaks
Mr. Dana expressed regret that Judge W. Walter Abraham was unable to be present because of business in court, but welcomed the visitors in the name of the association and introduced Mayor John F. Haven, who extended further greetings.

Then the oldsters lined up for the grand march, with President Dana and his cousin, Mrs. Sarah Dana, followed by Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Rentz and Alderman O. H. P. Green and Miss Lillian Perry. Others who were near the top of the list, many of them folks who have been married for 50 years or more, included Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCandless and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McCaren.

After the grand march the hours were spent in round and square dancing, with music being furnished by Emery's old time orchestra, and they tripped the light fantastic with feet made light by the memories of their youth for the balance of the afternoon, or sat about and talked over those dear old days with the friends of their youth. Joe Brooks did a splendid job of calling the figures, with Frank H. Robinson master of ceremonies.

Some of those present from a great distance included: Winifred Atherton, Pasadena, Cal.; Mrs. Mae Lawry, New Jersey; Della Kerr Farrar, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. White, Miami, Fla.; Mrs. Lizzie Baldwin, Cleveland, O.; George A. White, Cleveland; Mrs. Agnes M. Pollock, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Misses Gertrude and Mary Falls, Lakeland, Fla.; Mrs. Agnes Veit, Margerie, Rogue River, Ore.; Mrs. J. E. Dickson, Casey, Oakland, Calif.; Margaret Hallis, Cleveland, and Mrs. Margery Goodfellow, Skippers, Va.

In addition, there were many from Pittsburgh, Aliquippa, Youngstown, Sharon and other points.

Some Are Missed
There was a touch of sadness due to the fact that many who have been prominent in the gatherings in past years had been removed by the grim reaper, while others were unable to be present because of the ailments of declining years, and they were missed by their friends.

The registration was taken care of by Misses Dorothy Rudesill and Pauline Miller of the New Castle Business college.

Clarence M. England of the Penn Power company had charge of the amplification.

Mr. Dana expressed the gratitude of the committee to those who had helped with the arrangements for the day, making the success of the reunion possible.

The pros and cons of the suggestion for a joint Anglo-American and other Allied occupation of two thirds of Germany are now being considered in some American quarters the view prevails that it probably would be easier for United States forces to handle the Germans in a separate zone alone.

Would Extend U. S. Influence
On the other hand, joint occupation would extend American influence to a zone which is considered more important than the one originally allocated to the United States.

American forces were to take over southern areas of Germany, including Franconia and Bavaria.

Demand Government

Force Petrillo Action

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The federal government was called upon today to force James C. Petrillo's American Federation of Musicians to resume making phonograph records for all companies and electrical transmissions for radio broadcasting.

The appeal was made in a resolution adopted by the National Association of Broadcasters, composed of radio broadcasting industry executives holding their 22nd annual meeting in Chicago.

The resolution charged that the recording ban which became effective August 1, 1942 on Petrillo's orders, was impeding the war effort.

Petrillo's order resulted in a Senate committee investigation and a national war labor board order for the musicians to return to their practice of cutting records.

Political Flavor To Anti-Trust Suits

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—No more inflammable fat could be thrown on the political fire than the anti-trust suit filed by the department of justice the other day against the American Association of Railroads and the Western Association of Railway Executives.

It cuts back into America's past when the railroads were the "interests," denounced by politicians from the plains states and attacked by every grass roots radical movement. In recent years, with the decline of the railroads under pressure of new competition, the political sting has been somewhat drawn. Moreover the interstate commerce commission was supposed to have made everything nice and legal.

Contrary to what many critics have assumed, the new suit has nothing to do with rate-making by the ICC. Officials in the department of justice say their investigations were first directed to discover the western agreement which is the nub of the charge against the roads. It had never been filed with the ICC, as the law requires.

Some of Procedure Ten days after an anti-trust investigator got on the trail of the agreement, the western railroads filed it with the ICC. Four days later it was announced it was cancelled. There seems to be considerable doubt whether under any circumstances the ICC could have approved the agreement, since it tended to take the rate-making function away from the commission.

On the basis of the agreement, the anti-trust division wanted to bring a criminal anti-trust charge. They were prevented from doing that by the war and navy departments, which have the veto power in anti-trust cases that appear likely to impede the war effort. This was a point won by Undersecretary Robert Patterson when he challenged a number of suits brought by Thurman Arnold who later resigned as official trust-buster to become a federal judge.

An appeal is possible, however, to the White House, and it was the White House that approved a civil suit against the railroads. In five instances, out of 33 suits stopped by the military, the president has finally given the go sign for court action.

What gives this a political look is the fact that it comes on the eve of a national campaign, with freight rate discrimination an acute issue in the south and the west. While the western agreement was unheated a year ago, anti-trust officials say the suit could not have been brought earlier and cannot be tried for at least six months.

To Use Dewey Statement Out of the files of the ICC, Democratic campaign planners have taken a statement made by Governor Dewey in March of 1943. They will use that statement against Dewey in the areas where dissatisfaction with the rates is greatest.

It is a solemn warning against any change in the present rate structure. To do so, says Dewey, speaking as the governor of New York, would be to damage further New York's industry and commerce. "New York has experienced both the direct shift of its industries to the south and the drying up of manufacturing plants within the state coincidentally with the growth of similar manufacturing plants within the south," the governor said in a statement presented for him by M. P. Catherwood, state commissioner of commerce.

"The problem of the maintenance of manufacturing industries in New York and the problem of unemployment in New York are inseparable. It is a serious problem in our state, particularly in the metropolitan area, in spite of the war boom elsewhere—affect not only New York alone but the entire nation. New York State embraces over 10 per cent of the nation's population, and the nation's government depends on New York State for 20 per cent of its revenue. Industries have located, workers have made their homes in reliance on the present rate structure."

That is a plea for things as they are and whatever else you can say about anti-trust suits, it's aimed at the kind of expansion that must come with the war's end.

PURPOSE No way to know our purpose here! No orders on a piece of paper. In phrase official and severe: Be priest or poet, smith or draper.

No plain directive as we start! No briefing of our earthly mission! Sent here, from science, trade or art.

To find and serve our own ambition. We come our labor here to choose, Drawn to it by some strange attraction. The joys of Heaven to win or lose, And worldly pride and satisfaction.

God leaves us free through life to go, Do what seems right, and sometimes blunder. Our service: Was it destined so? Ah, that is what we often wonder!

Words Of Wisdom

The best teacher is the one who suggests rather than dogmatizes, and inspires his listener with the wish to teach himself.—Bulwer.

While B-29's strike Japan, workers strike at home," comments a paper, in Detroit, of course.

Nazi prisoners of war in California object to working extra hours, probably on the theory that when in America do as the Americans do.

The best teacher is the one who suggests rather than dogmatizes, and inspires his listener with the wish to teach himself.—Bulwer.

Loaded down with bundles, the little man anxiously looked about him in the crowded department store. A floorwalker approached him and asked, "Are you looking for something in men's wearing apparel, sir?"

"No, something in women's apparel," came the answer. "I can't find my wife."

Ironical Antithesis: Have you ever stopped to consider that most men who sport so profusely about capital and labor never had any capital and never did much labor?

Overheard on the bus: "This is my favorite month . . . I wish it would last forever."

"Yeah . . . so do I. I gotta note due the first of September too."

How long did it take to make up for our folly? From Pearl Harbor to Truk was 803 days.

"I feel myself the only man capable of leading Germany now."—Hitler. That has a familiar sound.

So many tragic accidents result from careless dumbness, yet if careless dumbness is made a crime, the jails won't hold the guilty.

Americanism: Trying to gain foreign friends by feeding them: inviting their wrath by trying to reform and uplift them.

CONCERNING his recent exhibition of impartiality between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Dewey, it may be said that there is another view. This is that one has to strain very hard indeed to find anything like principle to support it. Because, actually, there is no major principle of foreign policy advocated by Mr. Roosevelt which is not also advocated by Mr. Dewey and Mr. Dewey. On the fundamentals of post-war foreign policy and permanent international cooperation there is no real difference between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Dewey and none between either and Mr. Wilkie. On basic principles there is no room or dispute among them. If Mr. Wilkie finds himself differing with either on foreign policy it will be over some minor point, not on a principle.

THIS OF course, is a pretty fine thing for the country—and for the world. It should mean genuine national unity behind it. United States foreign policy as it is now being evolved. It should remove foreign policy as an issue in the campaign. It should mean nonpartisan approval of the framework for the peace machine shortly to emerge. All of which would mean much for the future security of the world against war. No one wants to detract from Mr. Wilkie's part in bringing about this state of affairs. He deserves full credit for the fight he made against isolationism within his party and no one questions either his sincerity or courage in making it.

BUT THAT is a very different thing from attributing nobility to him in this instance: to hail his stand as a matter of principle when that because of his coldness to both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Dewey, his critics have come to see that he has been a pure and holy man, that he had no difficulty in seeing the danger of his party's position, that he had no difficulty in seeing the danger of his party's position, that he had no difficulty in seeing the danger of his party's position.

THE TRUTH is, Mr. Wilkie loves a fad in some cities. At one time, only intimate friends presented gifts to an engaged girl. Now she is usually given innumerable showers by her friends and business acquaintances, receiving items for her trousseau and her new home. Showers should, however, not be given by members of either the bride's or the groom's family but rather by an "outsider," since an invitation asks for a gift and gifts should not be solicited by the bride or groom. If you are invited to one or more showers, the gifts presented there will suffice. If you are not invited to any, you may give an engagement gift to a dear friend.

Question: (1) Is one supposed to take every course in a table d'hôte dinner? (2) Should the waiter of the man accompanying her seat a woman and help her with her wraps?—Bill.

Answer: (1) You may omit any course that you do not wish to eat. (2) Either may do so. Usually if the waiter or headwaiter is at the table, he takes care of her.

For a moment, he wondered why his new watch dog had given no alarm. Then, determined to investigate, he rose and crept silently down the stairs. Sure enough, his suspicions were true.

There, in the living room, were two, masked men. They were crouched down on the floor, trying to open the door to the safe.

The dog? Oh, he was there, too—holding a flashlight for the burglars!

"No, something in women's apparel," came the answer. "I can't find my wife."

Americanism: Trying to gain foreign friends by feeding them: inviting their wrath by trying to reform and uplift them.

CONCERNING his recent exhibition of impartiality between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Dewey, it may be said that there is another view. This is that one has to strain very hard indeed to find anything like principle to support it. Because, actually, there is no major principle of foreign policy advocated by Mr. Roosevelt which is not also advocated by Mr. Dewey and Mr. Dewey. On the fundamentals of post-war foreign policy and permanent international cooperation there is no real difference between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Dewey and none between either and Mr. Wilkie. On basic principles there is no room or dispute among them. If Mr. Wilkie finds himself differing with either on foreign policy it will be over some minor point, not on a principle.

THIS OF course, is a pretty fine thing for the country—and for the world. It should mean genuine national unity behind it. United States foreign policy as it is now being evolved. It should remove foreign policy as an issue in the campaign. It should mean nonpartisan approval of the framework for the peace machine shortly to emerge. All of which would mean much for the future security of the world against war. No one wants to detract from Mr. Wilkie's part in bringing about this state of affairs. He deserves full credit for the fight he made against isolationism within his party and no one questions either his sincerity or courage in making it.

BUT THAT is a very different thing from attributing nobility to him in this instance: to hail his stand as a matter of principle when that because of his coldness to both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Dewey, his critics have come to see that he has been a pure and holy man, that he had no difficulty in seeing the danger of his party's position, that he had no difficulty in seeing the danger of his party's position, that he had no difficulty in seeing the danger of his party's position.

THE TRUTH is, Mr. Wilkie loves a fad in some cities. At one time, only intimate friends presented gifts to an engaged girl. Now she is usually given innumerable showers by her friends and business acquaintances, receiving items for her trousseau and her new home. Showers should, however, not be given by members of either the bride's or the groom's family but rather by an "outsider," since an invitation asks for a gift and gifts should not be solicited by the bride or groom. If you are invited to one or more showers, the gifts presented there will suffice. If you are not invited to any, you may give an engagement gift to a dear friend.

Question: (1) Is one supposed to take every course in a table d'hôte dinner? (2) Should the waiter of the man accompanying her seat a woman and help her with her wraps?—Bill.

Answer: (1) You may omit any course that you do not wish to eat. (2) Either may do so. Usually if the waiter or headwaiter is at the table, he takes care of her.

Willkie's Aloofness Stirs Comment

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31. A RATHER labored effort is being made by journalistic friends of Mr. Wendell Willkie to build him up again as an heroic figure, who functions wholly from a high sense of duty and is free from such human frailties as, since last April, had seemed to permeate his system—such, for example, as personal pique, prejudice and resentment. But the effort is not meeting with much success.

THE BASIS of the new drive to restore the Willkie prestige appears to be that, having been invited by both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Dewey to confer on the subject of foreign policy, Mr. Willkie has managed to avoid seeing either one. In regard to Governor Dewey, he did unobtrusively to confer with his representative, Mr. Dulles, but took precautions to avert what he feared would be an attempt to associate him with the Dewey campaign by taking pictures of him with Mr. Dulles. In regard to Mr. Roosevelt, who first denied knowledge of the invitation but later admitted it, Mr. Willkie let it be known that, of course, if it came as a "command" from the President he would attend. However, it is explained by his friends that he hopes it will not come before the election, as he does not want his visit to be used to promote the Roosevelt fourth-term effort.

THIS, it is held, proves Mr. Willkie a man of such great sincerity and high principle that those who have not admired his quiet conduct since his Wisconsin defeat, have come now to feel that the Willkie position, instead of being indefensible and absurd, is really creditable and commendable. It would be interesting to know who are these low fellows who have been brought to repentance by this recent exhibition of Willkie nobility. Certainly they are not members of his own party. Nor are they among that group of former Willkie aides who helped organize his campaign for the nomination but are now strongly and openly for Dewey. And they hardly could be the pro-Roosevelt politicians and publicists, as from the day Mr. Willkie became critical of the Republican platform and candidate, these have rejoiced in his aloofness and have endeavored to widen the breach by hypocritically praising upon him, correctly estimating that his attitude is well calculated to promote fourth-term prospects.

CONCERNING his recent exhibition of impartiality between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Dewey, it may be said that there is another view. This is that one has to strain very hard indeed to find anything like principle to support it. Because, actually, there is no major principle of foreign policy advocated by Mr. Willkie which is not also advocated by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Dewey. On the fundamentals of post-war foreign policy and permanent international cooperation there is no real difference between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Dewey and none between either and Mr. Willkie. On basic principles there is no room or dispute among them. If Mr. Willkie finds himself differing with either on foreign policy it will be over some minor point, not on a principle.

With high-ranking military and government leaders worried over the war of optimism sweeping the country because of favorable war news and a drop in key munitions programs, the following story tells how "GI Joe" feels about it all:

An unidentified soldier in France who got "fed up" hearing over the radio and in letters from home what an easy job the Allies are having with the Germans, finally wrote home and told his family: "I understand the Germans have practically given up. I wish someone would tell that to the Krauts down the road who are giving us hell day and night!"

It looks now as though an impatient Congress, eager to get back to the political races, may not be able to recess before Labor Day unless after the November election—there is too much reconversion stuff to clean up.

Both the House and Senate find themselves snarled over post-war legislation designed to facilitate transition from war to peace. If they are unable to clear their decks before Sept. 4, Congress will be forced to return for perhaps several weeks in September before cleaning up.

The CIA Political Action Committee is reaping a variety of results in its exploration of untapped territory. The latest is the avowed hostility of the American Federation of Labor.

The AFL teamed up with the CIO and the railway brotherhoods in an effort to jam the Kilgore-Murray bill, a Truman demobilization bill through the Senate. This formidable phalanx of labor was soundly defeated when the Senate vote was taken. Later the AFL blamed the PAC for the result, and there were ominous hints that the CIO-PAC would be tagged by AFL with the blame of human demobilization measure finally passed by Congress is unsatisfactory to labor.

Post-War Conference Has Capital On Edge
Signs Of Progress At Dumbarton Oaks Seen
Recess For Congress Appears Doubtful Now

By HELEN ESSARY
(By Staff Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—All outward signs point to good progress in the post-war security conferences now being conducted at the Dumbarton Oaks estate in Washington.

Capital big-wigs are keeping their fingers crossed, however, hoping that nothing happens to gum up the works.

There was intense agitation in international circles last week when Governor Dewey's views on a post-war organization were made known. It was feared that the Russian mission, always sensitive to American public opinion, might take offense at what at first glance appeared to be Dewey's deep disfavor with the Soviet peace organization.

However, Secretary of State Hull's reply and invitation to the GOP presidential candidate, to discuss foreign policy smoothed the momentarily troubled waters.

The conference of "technicians" still has a long row to hoe, but hopes run high in Washington that the formula finally achieved will represent the unanimous views of all the "Big Four" nations and will be acceptable to smaller members of the Allied nations.

According to well-founded reports in the nation's capital, War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes, who has been referred to as "the assistant president" will seek to drop out of public life after the election this fall. Byrnes wants to resume his private law practice.

News reports of mass suicides by Japanese civilians on Saipan are causing considerable speculation among Washington military observers on what the fate of Japan's 80 million citizens will be—and when—the Americans decide to invade the homeland.

Correspondents have reported the war of traditional har-ki-ki committed by Japanese soldiers on Saipan by our Marines. That was expected. But they didn't anticipate the hundreds, and possibly thousands, of civilian suicides.

Reports told how Jap warriors in preparing to kill themselves made sure that they took as many civilian lives as possible. They were told about men, women and children diving from sheer cliffs into the sea, or women combing their black hair before plunging into the surf, of families riddled by Jap bullets.

There was one temperate, considered observation on this subject to which experts attach much significance—asserted by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz that the Japs may "give up" to prevent an American invasion.

Reims Rejoices Over Freedom

French Citizens Wildly Acclaim Arrival Of American Forces

CATHEDRAL IS NOT DAMAGED

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

REIMS, France, Aug. 31.—The citizens of Reims, wildly rejoicing over the city's liberation by the U. S. Third Army launched a hunt for Nazi collaborators today and built bonfires in the streets with Vichy-published books, magazines and German literature.

Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's troops took the cathedral and champagne city yesterday without chipping a stone or pausing for breath in their pursuit of the Germans retreating through famous World War I regions marked by the Hindenburg line and the Meuse and Aisne rivers.

German armored forces, along with Czech and Russian soldiers, impressed into the German army, finding themselves practically surrounded quit the city at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening.

By forenoon Wednesday the Americans had put an end to a scattered firing of enemy snipers and flooded beyond Reims in a continued advance.

Yanks Roll In

As the Yanks rolled into Reims, the populace flocked into the streets and the cathedral square. The people were greatly relieved to find that their magnificent medieval city had been spared the ravages it suffered in World War I.

French residents said German columns had been flowing through the city toward the Reich frontiers for the past two weeks. The Nazis, according to the inhabitants of Reims, at first purposely created the impression they would fight for the entire region.

But during the past several days it became evident that the Wehrmacht's position was untenable.

particularly after the American crossing of the Marne and the capture of Châlons.

The world famous cathedral of Reims stood intact in its majestic glory, with its famous 12th century figures in front of the portal shielded by sandbags.

Reims Largely Undamaged

The city of Reims itself also is undamaged, except for a factory in the outskirts and the huge military and civilian airport where the Germans, before leaving, blew up all the facilities including the hangars.

The internationally celebrated champagne industry of this region flourishes as it has for generations. The rich vineyards again promise a full harvest and there obviously is little danger that Reims and nearby Epernay will lose their place as the world's top-ranking champagne producers.

Germany's crafty foreign minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, it was learned, had his hands on the juicy French grapes growing in this area. Having been a champagne salesman before he became Hitler's diplomatic mouthpiece, Ribbentrop came to Reims in 1940 and appointed a special delegate for the purchase of 60,000 bottles of champagne daily at a price of 60 francs ($1.20) per bottle which was set by the Nazis, whether the champagne firms liked it or not.

But a champagne official in Reims told me there was plenty of the choice vineyards left to satisfy Allied thirst. However, both Reims and Epernay were like dry cities, partly due to the excitement of the liberation.

Contrary to our experience in Paris where in one incident seven bottles of champagne were tossed into a single jeep within the space of a few blocks, I did not see a champagne bottle popped in any of Reims' big champagne houses. Though their facades were well decorated with Allied flags, their doors were locked.

There were some dead horses and broken wagons along roadsides where German convoys had been strafed. But Patton's blitz swept through scores of miles of this region without firing a shot.

N. A. M. Declares No Funds Spent On '44 Election

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The National Association of Manufacturers told the congress today that while it is spending one and one-third million dollars this year to promote a "better public understanding of industry" it has not contributed money or used "other means" to influence the 1944 elections.

The NAM's declaration was made before the special house committee investigating campaign expenditures by its president, Robert M. Gaylord, head of the Ingersoll Milling Machine Co. of Rockford, Ill.

Gaylord testified under questioning by Rep. Anderson (D) N. M. committee chairman, that the association's annual budget is approximately three million dollars, "partly dues, partly contributions."

Of this annual budget, Gaylord said, about one million 385 thousand dollars is being spent this year by the NAM's national industrial information committee which was created in 1934.

Million Last Year

The committee last year, he added, spent a little over one million. The house committee's special attention was called to the NAM information group earlier this week by Chairman Sidney Hillman of the CIO political action committee. He demanded investigation of organizations other than the PAC. Hillman referred to the NAM and a number of other groups as "agencies of reaction."

Anderson's committee had asked the NAM to report any money subscribed and contributed, the value of services rendered and facilities made available to any candidate to influence votes at any convention, primary or general election in 1944.

"In response," Gaylord replied, "I can say definitely that the association has not solicited, subscribed, or contributed any monies, services or facilities of any kind to or on behalf of a candidate or nominee in either a primary or general election for either branch of the congress or for the office of president or vice president of the United States."

And he added: "I can assure you that the association has used no other means or influence for the purpose of aiding or influencing the nomination for election of any such candidate."

head is anticipated and the next few days may witness a lightning push across northeastern France.

Coinciding with the drive, British bombers attacked long-range weapon dumps in the Pas De Calais area.

Amiens is a city of enormous strategic importance. It was the scene of a great German breakthrough in 1940 and its fall made that of Abbeville inevitable, with the result the Nazis crashed through to the channel coast, precipitating the necessity of a British evacuation from Dunkirk.

The ancient capital of Picardy, Amiens has a population of approximately 100,000 and is situated at a point where the Somme connects with the Arve and Selle rivers.

May Thrust North

After taking Amiens, the British may possibly thrust due north to Abbeville to cut off the Germans now manning robot bomb emplacements in the Pas De Calais area.

Only advanced elements reached Amiens during the morning, but three strong columns of tanks and armored cars were closely behind, with a broad front of motorized infantry in their wake.

The thrust to Amiens climaxed a two-day advance of 60 miles, characterized as one of the most sensational of the war. A senior officer of Gen. Dempsey's staff acquainted field correspondents with details of the development and prefaced his announcement by saying: "There is good news for you this morning, gentlemen."

One armored column of the British force covered forty miles in only 24 hours.

Only 80 Miles From Germany

American patrols of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton Jr.'s Third Army are in St. Dizier, 18 miles past Vitry-Le-Francois, and less than 80 miles from the German border.

In the past 31 days, a headquarters spokesman revealed, Patton's army has captured 70,000 Nazis. During the same period, 18,000 Germans were killed and 60,000 wounded.

Canadian armored units pressing northeast of Roen, which the Germans say they have evacuated, have reached Gatenay, six miles beyond that great communications center north of the Seine.

Allied forces sweeping north and northwest of Paris have reached the town of Senlis and are approaching Crepy.

But 34 Miles From Belgium

Laon, key communications center 34 miles from the Belgian border, was captured by Lieut. Gen. Courtney Hodges' First U. S. Army after a stiff fight yesterday. The headquarters spokesman said. Three trainloads of Germans trying to escape were captured.

The advance in northern France, the spokesman said, is now one continuous drive, with the Allies in contact all along the line in coordinated efforts to drive the Germans back.

North of Paris, American troops have captured Chaumont-Eu-Vexin, some 20 miles beyond the French capital.

Front dispatches said that Canadian troops entered Roen this morning from the southeast, but that German forces in the city still hold the section on the west bank of the Seine.

Reach Rocherelle.

Tank-led infantry elements reached the town of Rocherelle, northeast of Roen.

(The London Evening News quoted a Swiss broadcast as saying that British troops are within ten miles of the Somme, another of the historic river barriers made famous in World War I.)

British armored units of Lieut. Gen. Miles C. Dempsey's Second Army, racing northward from bridgeheads across the lower Seine and bypassing scattered areas of enemy resistance, captured the towns of Goumery-Eu-Bray, Beauvais and Marseille-Eu-Beauvais, and pushed on into the heart of the robot bomb country.

From this territory the Germans for more than two months have been hurling their deadly flying bombs at southern England and London itself, indiscriminately killing innocent civilians and damaging public buildings and private dwellings.

Postal Employees Have Corn Roast

Annual Event Is Held Wednesday
Evening With Nearly Hundred
In Attendance

Employees of the New Castle Post Office and their families numbering 90 in all, enjoyed the annual corn roast of the group, which was held along the Wilmington road, Wednesday evening.

Following a delicious repast of corn, wieners, and other delectables, a program of humorous stunts and entertainment was presented with a large number taking part.

Appeals To School Children To Return To Their Classes

HARRISBURG, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Superintendent of Public Instruction Francis B. Haas appealed today to school children holding summer jobs to return to classrooms and prepare themselves for the keen competition for employment in the post war period.

"We have been grateful for the contribution you have made to the war effort," Dr. Haas said in a statement directed to young war workers. "However there is an immediate task confronting you that cannot wait. Go to school and learn all you can from your teachers, your classmates, your books and your laboratories."

Pointing out that the decrease during the past 33 months totaled 18 per cent of Pennsylvania high school enrollments, Haas said there were a million less pupils in the nation's schools since the attack at Pearl Harbor and 128,000 less in Pennsylvania high schools.

"It is a situation," he added, "that demands the attention of, and action by school officials, teachers, parents, employers, clergymen and civic leaders of this commonwealth."

He revealed that 20 per cent of the youths 14 to 17 years of age were not receiving any training for post war readjustment and reconstruction work.

"This is a serious situation which should command the deep concern of every citizen," Haas declared.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

see that this lad has not acquired good habits of work at school; also that the teacher with so many other children to look after cannot give him personal supervision constantly. While the lad does not learn a good deal from listening to the other children read, he needs to acquire the habit of concentrating on what he is supposed to do.

You won't help him cultivate this good habit at school by lecturing or punishing him at home for his bad habits at school. Neither will you help him by your "blowing up" over his poor grades or having scenes when you help him at his lessons. Please never again curse him with the word "dumb." It looks as if your biggest problem is to master yourself. Please read carefully the enclosed bulletin on how to help the child with his lessons at home.

He will, of course, concentrate better on his arithmetic at school or elsewhere when he is able to do it more successfully. You see, a child, like anybody else, including you and me, must feel he is succeeding in what he is learning in order to concentrate best on it and work at it vigorously. Anything you can do at home to help him improve his number skills should cause him to work wholeheartedly on arithmetic at home and school. Look first into the way he handles the simple number combinations. When, for example, he adds 8 and 6 or subtracts 3 from 11, does he count or does he know the actual number fact right off without trying to figure it out?

Aids in Arithmetic. In order for him to do well on addition or subtraction, he will have to know by heart without an error the 100 basic addition facts and the 100 basic subtraction facts. But if he doesn't know them don't express surprise or feel angry that he doesn't. Just show him how. Beginning on the addition facts, have him learn four or five an evening without a mistake, always reviewing those he had learned before in order to hold fast to them. As you can see, you will have to be very calm and patient if he is to learn most accurately. I am enclosing two sheets on which appear these facts and instructions for learning them well.

Protect him from distractions while at his lesson. Try to keep him wholeheartedly at the job but let him pause for relaxation at the end of each 20 minute period.

Cultivate in him the habit of sticking to jobs he does about the home, holding him strictly to regular routines like bringing himself from the street when the lights appear, going to bed at a regular hour, and getting off without help promptly for school.

DRIED FOODS

All down through the centuries dried foods have been important forms of nourishment.

In the winter time our domestic animals live on dried food almost exclusively, especially our horses, cattle and sheep. They thrive on it.

Sometimes in the preparation and cooking of our dried foods we lose some of the vitamins and minerals. Sometimes the vegetables or fruits are soaked in water in order to plump them.

This plan is all right if the water is not thrown away. It dissolves out some of the minerals and vitamins and if it is not used these valuable things are wasted.

When dried foods are soaked, they should be cooked in the soaking water. Then this water should be used for it contains much of the most valuable food elements. The liquid from canned fruit and vegetables should not be wasted.

Full Production For Labor Day Is Asked Of Plants

BALTIMORE, Aug. 31.—Regular full-time production schedules have been requested at all war plants on Labor Day, September 4, and the War Department particularly deprecates that no war plants be shut down over the preceding week-end, and getting off without help promptly for school.

The commanding general of the Third Service Command said he hoped full war production would be maintained in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia over the Labor Day week-end, "especially in view of the possible effects of a slackening down would have on the progress being made by our troops in France."

"The Third Service Command is an important war production area, in which a critical labor condition prevails," he said. "Any let-down, even if it is over one week-end, might well delay by that much time a complete victory in France."

"In fact," he added, "the brief week-end interruption to production might mean a penalty in American lives."

Youth Is Killed In Accidental Gun Discharge

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 31.—(INS)—Peter Spodaro, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Spodaro of Pittsburgh, was killed almost instantly Wednesday when a gun was accidentally discharged in the hands of his camping companion, Jack Bonant, 18, also of Pittsburgh.

Coroner W. Warren Wood, who issued a certificate of accidental death, said Bonant picked up a .22 rifle and was going to place it on pegs over the doorway of a cabin at Dorn's Villa, North East, when the weapon was accidentally discharged.

FALSE ALARM

ORANGE, N. J.—(INS)—When a new tenant on Center Street discovered a package in the basement containing a stick believed to be dynamite, and photographs of public buildings in New York and New Jersey, police thought they'd come across a saboteur's kit. The mystery was exploded when it was found the stick wouldn't explode under any circumstances. It was an old railroad flare. The photographs were distributed many years ago by the Port of New York Authority.

No Safe Refuge For Nazi Leaders

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull said Wednesday the United States government is giving careful consideration to the question of making it impossible for the Nazi leaders to obtain safe refuge in neutral countries.

Questioned concerning rumors that the Nazi leaders might attempt to flee to Spain or other neutral countries, Hull recalled that last fall President Roosevelt called on each of the neutral countries to define its attitude on the question of refusing asylum to the enemy leaders.

At this stage, Hull added, the American government is not unmindful for a moment of the situation, and it is being given careful consideration.

SECOND IN SHOOT

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Carnege Tech's Reserve Officers Training Corps rifle team placed second this year in the William Randolph Hearst competition in their class in the Eastern Service Command. It made the eighth time in 16 years that the Tartar marksmen had placed high in the annual shoot.

Saul Rejected

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Saul rejected as king

"Because thou hast rejected the word of Jehovah, He hath also rejected thee from being king."—1 Sam. 15:23.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL.
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for September 3 is 1 Samuel 13, 15, 31, The Golden Text being Sam. 15:23. "Because thou hast rejected the word of Jehovah, He hath also rejected thee from being king.")

Today's lesson relates the story of Saul, the man chosen of God to lead the Israelites. It tells the story of a man who seemed to have the requisites of a great leader, but who was not sound at the core of his being. His character lacked the necessary greatness which was needed for the office he was called upon to hold, and so his life was a failure.

Our first chapter tells us that Saul reigned for one year, and in the second he chose 3,000 men of Israel and sent all other men to their tents. Then he smote the Philistine garrison, after which the Philistines gathered thousands of their soldiers together to fight back.

When the Philistines were all gathered for an attack, with thousands of chariots, horsemen and people "as the sand which is on the sea shore in multitude," the Israelites were badly frightened and hid in caves and thickets, in rocks and high places, and some crossed over Jordan. Saul was in Gilgal, and some followed him there, trembling. He waited there seven days for Samuel, and when he did not come Saul himself offered a burnt offering and a peace offering to the Lord.

Samuel reproves Saul. Then Samuel came and asked Saul what he had done. Saul told him that the people were scared and so he had taken upon himself to act as priest and offer up the burnt sacrifice which was Samuel's office. Samuel told Saul he had done foolishly and that as he had not obeyed the Lord, the Lord would destroy the kingdom, when He would have established it.

But now thy kingdom shall not continue: The Lord hath sought after a man after His own heart, and the Lord hath commanded him to be captain over His people, because thou hast not kept that which the Lord commanded thee. To show how the Philistines kept the Israelites in subjection, they had no smith to make swords and spears, so on the day of battle they had no warlike weapons to use in the battle of Mithmash, which they won.

Then Samuel told Saul to go out against the Amalekites and to destroy them utterly, they and all their goods. Saul and his people overthrew the Amalekites and destroyed them, only Saul took Agag, the king prisoner, and allowed the people to keep all the best sheep and oxen. When Samuel came Saul said, "Blessed be thou of the Lord: I have performed the commandment of the Lord."

Knows Saul Lies

Samuel knew Saul had not obeyed implicitly, because the Lord had told him that He repented having made Saul king, and Samuel had "cried unto the Lord all night" because of Saul's unworthiness. All Samuel said to Saul was, "What meanest thou then this bleating of the sheep in mine ears, and the lowing of the oxen which I hear?"

Saul tried to blame the people for keeping the sheep and oxen and insisted that he had obeyed the Lord—which was a lie. The oxen and sheep were to be a sacrifice unto the Lord, Saul stated. Samuel answered, "Hath the Lord as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the Lord?"

"For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry. Because thou hast rejected the word of the Lord, He hath also rejected thee from being king." Saul then confessed his sins, but Samuel could not forgive him. He ordered Agag to be brought before him and killed him with his own hands.

Samuel also told Saul he would not come to him again, and although Saul pleaded to be forgiven, and caught hold of Samuel's robe as he was leaving, tearing same, Samuel came no more to Saul all the days of his life, but he mourned for this promising man who had so disappointed him.

The 31st chapter of 1 Samuel tells of Saul's last hours. The Philistines were again on the rampage and "the battle went sore against Saul." His son, Jonathan, beloved of David and his two other sons were killed and Saul begged his armor bearer to kill him, but he refused. Saul therefore fell on his sword and died, and his armor bearer followed suit.

The Philistines found the bodies of Saul and his sons, cut off Saul's head, stripped off the armor and fastened the bodies to the wall in the house of their idol Bethshan. The valiant men of Israel, however, went at night and took the bodies of Saul and his sons and burnt them at Jabesh, and buried the bones under a tree. Then they fasted for seven days. So ends the life story of a man who seemed a born leader of the Lord, but did not possess the spirit of selflessness and obedience to succeed.

Two Rescued From Drowning In River

ASPINWALL, Pa., Aug. 31.—(INS)—Low water and quick arrival of coast guardsmen were credited today with saving the lives of two men whose motor boat shot over the Aspinwall dam in the Allegheny river.

Unrest In India Blamed To Gandhi

PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—The Congress Party of India, led by Mahatma Gandhi, is blamed by M. Ghiasuddin for the unrest in that country.

Ghiasuddin, a member of the central legislative assembly of India, claimed that the Congress Party "has tried to force the British to crush other parties." He is a member of the Unionist Party and in 1938 was a delegate to the British Commonwealth relations conference at Sydney, Australia.

"India is solidly behind the prosecution of the war to the end," he declared. "We have no love for the Japs; as a matter of fact, approximately 50,000 Indians were taken prisoner by the Japanese after the fall of Singapore."

Reveal Raid Made On Korcula Island

ROME, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Supported by new rocket-firing Hurricanes, the latest wrinkle in commando operations, allied land, naval and air forces raided the island of Korcula off the Dalmatian coast of Yugoslavia last Saturday night and Sunday morning, official sources announced today.

A communique issued by headquarters of the Balkan air force revealed that infantry, artillery, RAF and British naval units as well as planes, of that command carried out the attack.

Casualties were inflicted, gun positions damaged and ammunition dumps exploded by the raiders, who worked under the direction of Air Vice-Marshal Elliott of the RAF. The assault, hailed as "complete success," was designed to aid the partisan forces of Marshal Tito and met no organized German resistance.

Hundred Million Pieces Of Navy Mail Handled In Month

The problem of getting incorrectly addressed mail and packages to the right Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard man is efficiently handled by the Navy directory service.

These units maintain directory cards on all Navy personnel, and sometimes handle as high as 2,000 improperly addressed letters daily. The Navy handled a total of more than 100 million pieces of mail in July alone.

The San Francisco Fleet Post Office has 21,000 Smiths listed, while the one in New York has 14,000 Smiths. This increases the endless trouble of locating personnel.

Twenty-five million parcels are to be mailed during the overseas mailing period from September 15 to October 15.

No matter what newspaper publicity is given regarding the location of a serviceman, official Navy address must be used. Mail addressed to Saipan or Cherbourg, just because the serviceman is known to have been in action there, is not sufficient, and will cause a delay in delivery.

Overseas package maximum size and weight rules are as follows: Five pounds, 15 inches in length and 36 inches in length and girth combined.

Seeks Release Of Married Men Over 35 Years Old

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Rep. Hamilton Fish (R-N.Y.) announced that he will ask congress to vote to demobilize all married men 35 years of age and over from the armed services upon termination of the war with Germany.

Fish told the house that he would attempt to introduce such an amendment today or Friday to the pending George bill on postwar conversion.

The amendment would provide that all married servicemen 35 years of age or over shall be "immediately" demobilized from the armed forces upon the submission of a request for a release to their commanding officers within 30 days of the end of the European war.

"These are the forgotten men of the war," declared Fish. "Gen. Marshall has repeatedly stated that the hospitals are filled with these men who could not keep up with the pace."

"Many of them have been financially ruined, it seems to me, we ought to give them some kind of a priority or preference."

The New York congressman said it was "a matter of simple justice" and of "military advantage" to mustered these men out of service as soon as feasible. "Many of their families have gone through tragic times," he asserted.

Profiteers Barred In U. S. Tool Surplus

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Ruling out speculators, the Defense Plant Corp. said today that when it disposes of surplus machine tools and other production equipment "all purchasers will be expected to put the tools or equipment into use and to employ a suitable number of people in their use."

It is taking this stand, said Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones, "in order to insure the greatest amount of employment."

A terse announcement from the agency, a subsidiary of Mr. Jones' Reconstruction Finance Corp., said sales of the surplus productive equipment will be either for cash or on a deferred payment basis, adding that the DPC will dispose not only of its own equipment but that of other government agencies.

No sales will be made for re-sale. In sales where requested credit is not over $100,000, DPC representatives at Regional RFC offices will be authorized to make the sales and terms without referring them to Washington. Where greater credit is asked the field agencies must refer the requests to Washington by wire, with recommendation.

"Prompt action will be taken," Mr. Jones said.

Says Jobs For 18,000 Should Be Provided

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Planning Director Park H. Martin today declared that jobs for more than 18,000 men should be provided by Allegheny county's post-war public works programs.

Martin, who said this would cost between $60,000,000 and $90,000,000 annually, explained his figures included work done by county, federal and state construction projects, as well as those undertaken by the city of Pittsburgh and the smaller cities, boroughs and townships of the county—126 units in all.

He suggested the city should spend $10,000,000, the state $20,000,000 and the remaining governmental bodies $20,000,000 each for the first few years directly after the war.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Better start picturing that glamorous guy in uniform in a powder blue drape shape or a safe-au-lait red pleat because the nation's tailors are fixing to give him what he craves when he kisses his khaki goodbye.

Manufacturers, nudged by the headlines, are allowing their uniform material inventories to lapse and Sam who used to make the pants too long believes he may have made his last uniform.

Sam and his fellow tailors report today that the only people who have had uniforms made recently are people who cannot possibly squeeze another month of wear out of their present ones.

Tailors are bracing themselves for a sartorial spree when the lads and lassies break out into multi again. Colors of newly-stocked fabrics range from pale green in wool and gabardine to a lemon tan.

New stocks in ties speak for themselves and lustily. Brash prints in bright colors are much sought after by even normally conservative haberdashers.

Clearance Sales
Other merchants have come to the decision that khaki is for "fine sales" and merchandise designed for use by the armed forces is pretty generally featured at clearance sales.

Santa Claus is expected to earn more than his usual vote of thanks from merchants this year. They hope that he will take khaki-rimmed pictures, notebooks, Bibles and similar articles off their hands.

They are not re-stocking and manufacturers are re-converting to their standard inventories.

One tailor, inspecting a length of khaki twill with a view toward re-converting it into slacks, remarked thoughtfully that everyone seemed to know that the war is in the bag.

The war production board mars the tailors' postwar planning somewhat. Two pairs of pants, it still maintains, are not chic.

Recreation Fund Close To $12,000

Active Drive Closes Today, But Contributions Are Still Being Accepted

With the active campaign to raise money for the city recreation fund closing today, the drive seems to have made a $12,000 goal, according to Mayor John F. Haven.

Wednesday's report showed $11,826.67 already in, while the contributions from several stores, clubs and the seventh ward have not yet been received, the mayor said.

These will bring to well over $12,000 the fund raised by individuals, including one small child who gave 11 cents out of his bank, as well as organizations.

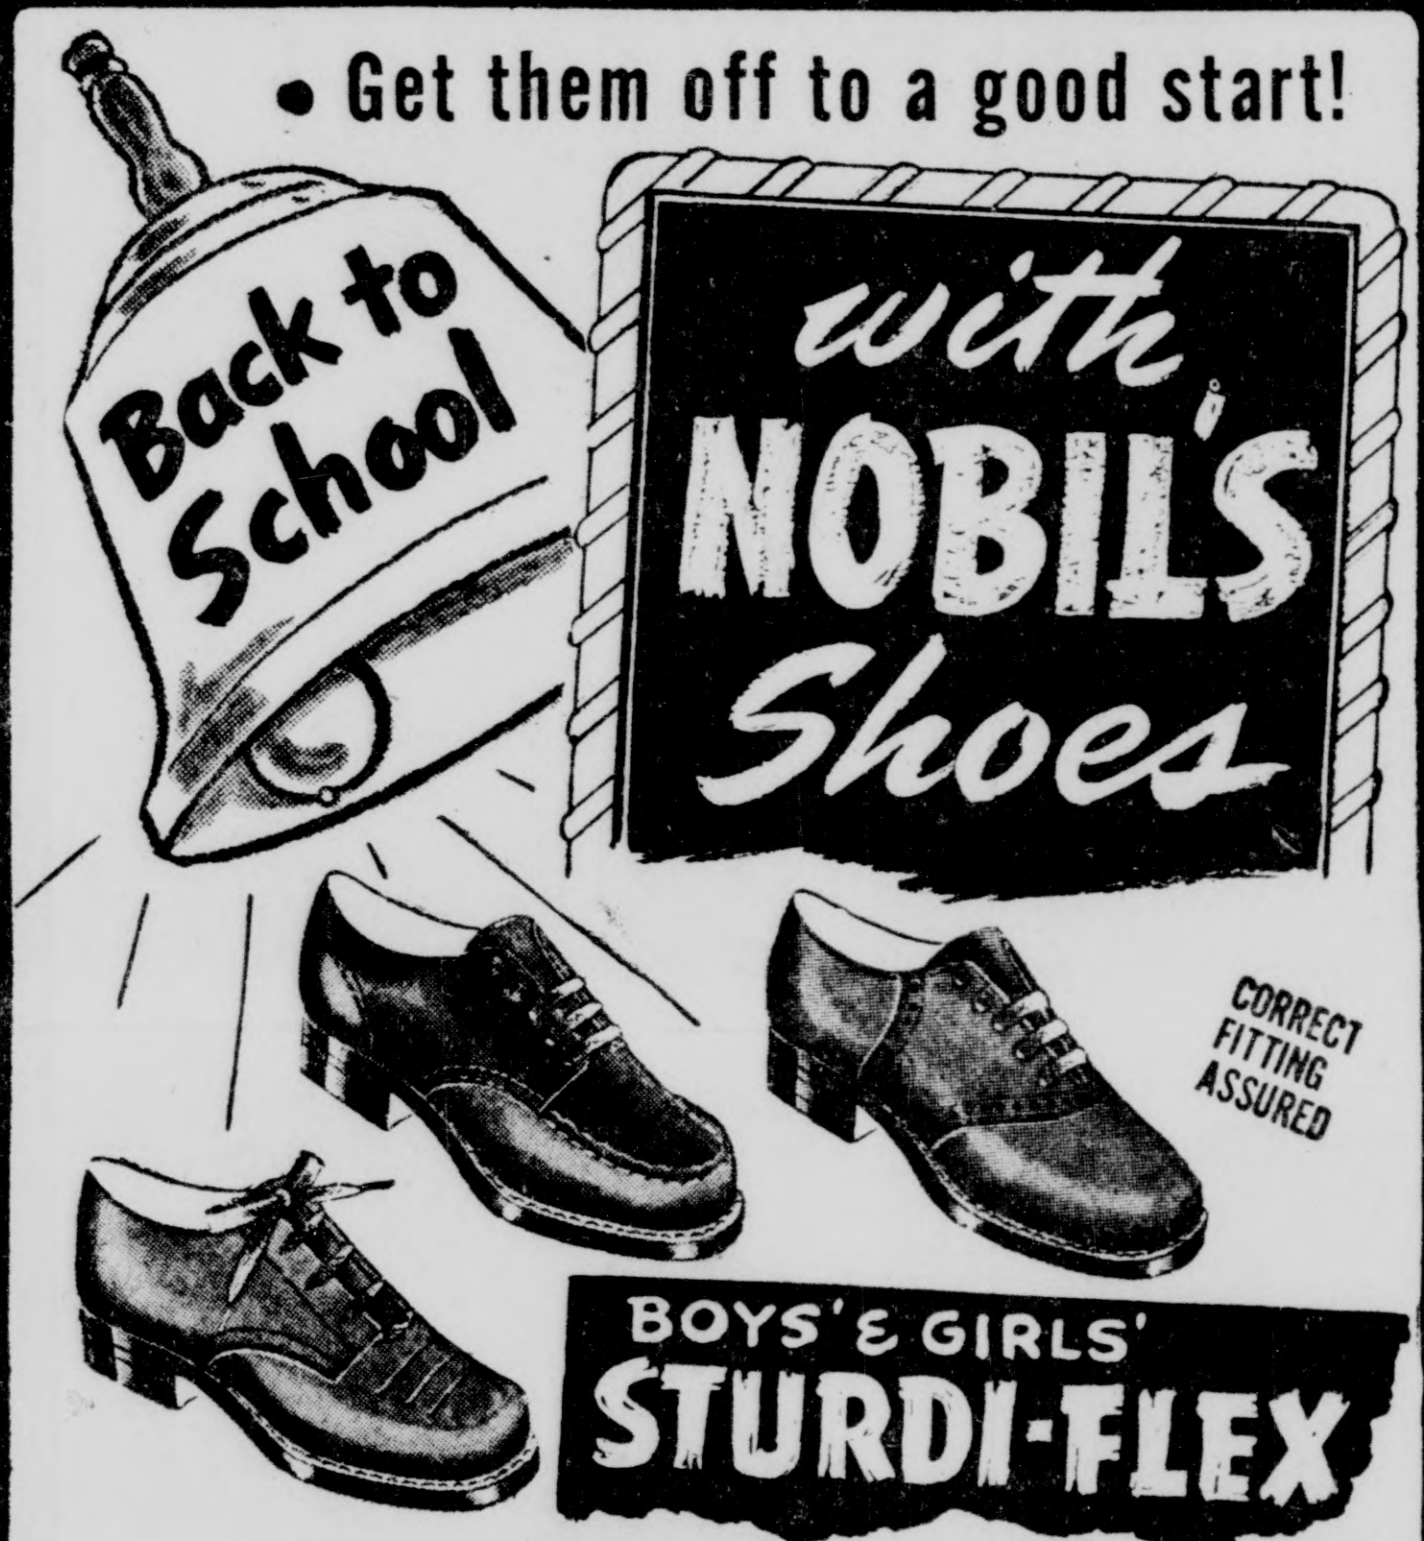

Persons who have not yet given may make out their checks to the recreation fund and send them to the mayor's office.

STATE GRANGE MASTER SPEAKS

Pomona Grangers Hear Kenzie Bagshaw At Sessions Wednesday At Mahoning Grange

On Wednesday, Lawrence County Pomona grange met in session with Mahoning Valley grange acting as host. The morning session was devoted to the business of the organization, with reports from the lecturers' conference at Pennsylvania State college being given.

"Agriculture United for Victory" was the theme of the day's program. Worthy State Grange Master Kenzie Bagshaw spoke on the activities of the grange developing its topic "Victory, the American Way of Life." He brought out many outstanding facts. We must be awake to the keeping of our Constitution. Are we aware of what is ahead of us? Our chief burden is employment. Are we going to rely upon subsidies, pensions and other relief forms? This is foreign to our way of life.

"Our country needs to be built up on initiative and effort. Humanity should be rewarded according to contribution to prosperity and civilization. Free enterprise should be our system."

"We ask the government to do something for us, but it only means the government will step in and control. Democracy is traveling the by-ways when it isn't creating responsibility."

"Are our boys going to have the heritage which should have been preserved for them? Be strong, we are not here to play."

Juvenile Grangers Share Miss Josephine Simpson spoke on "Quick Freeze to Save Flavor." She told of the preparation of food for freezing lockers.

Helen Worley, juvenile grange deputy, presented the juveniles in an "All Out for Victory" program. Lorraine and Margaret Forbes, Liberty grange; Joan Runk, Eleanor and Louise Garrett and Mary Ellen Byler, Wilmington grange; Nancy and Mary Lou Koch and Patty Joe Currie, East New Castle; Jimmie and Lester Pander, Nancy Marshall and Jerry Boots, Pleasant Hill; Phillip Cory, Dewitt Maxwell and Mary Alice Burns, Plaingrove; Roberta, Joan and Evelyn Spears, Janet and Gwendolyn Davis, Rosena and Eileen Gilmore, Shirley Fuller, Thelma McCurley, Shirley Bell, Elizabeth Byers and Pauline Harmon took part in the program.

The evening session of Pomona met in Mt. Jackson high school auditorium, where the Lawrence county elimination spelling contest took place. Mrs. McCommons, of Plaingrove, was winner of the contest, conducted by County Superintendent of Schools John C. Syling. Following this event, the Lawrence county degree team conferred the fifth degree upon 98 candidates.

WOODLAND FIRE ON COAST CONTROLLED

Check Shows 29 Homes Destroyed By Fire, At Least 20 Others Damaged

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 31.—(INS)—A check today showed 29 homes destroyed and at least 20 others damaged by the fire that raged for two days through the trees and heavy brush of the woodland hills section of the Santa Monica mountains.

Although the fire was brought under control by 700 civilians and soldiers late yesterday, smoldering patches remained and the area was being patrolled to prevent the flames from flaring up with new destruction.

Besides the homes, the blaze destroyed the brush and timber on some 8,000 acres of watershed. It was estimated that the loss might run as high as $1,000,000.

Among the buildings reduced to blackened ruins was the Woodland Hills Country club, formerly the Girard Country club, which had been used as a private residence for the last two years.

Mother Of Late Movie Star Russ Columbo Is Dead

Son Killed By Accidental Bullet Ten Years Ago—Mother Never Told

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 31.—(INS)—A merciful deception carried on for nearly a decade was at an end today with the death of Mrs. Julia Columbo, mother of the late Russ Columbo, film actor and romantic crooner.

She died still not knowing that her son was killed by a bullet from an old dueling pistol in an accident almost ten years ago.

At the time Columbo was killed his mother was seriously ill with a heart ailment, and members of the family kept the news from her for fear it would be a fatal shock to her.

They told her that Columbo had gone on a grand tour, with success followed by even greater success. They wrote letters, supposedly from her son, which she received from the various world capitals. Once a month she received a check which she thought was from Columbo, but which was from his insurance company.

The deception was planned as only a temporary expediency, but later it was carried on year after year.

Heavy Attack On Kurile Islands

Shore Installations Are Targets For Heaviest Aerial Raid On Jap Outer Defenses

By GEORGE McWILLIAMS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

AN ADVANCED ALEUTIAN BASE, Aug. 26.—(Delayed)—Japan's Kurile Islands underwent their heaviest aerial attack of the war today when American airmen bombed shore installations and sank an enemy patrol vessel.

Mitchell medium bombers of the 11th Army Air Force roared into the jaws of narrow Paramushiro Strait, separating Paramushiro and Shimushu, to sink the patrol vessel under the noses of shore batteries and anti-aircraft guns.

At almost the same time heavy Ventura's fleet air wing four teamed with army Liberators to strike at installations and offshore shipping at Onkotan, farther to the south.

All American planes returned. The Mitchell B-25s roared in at deck level, blasting the Jap ship to the bottom with bombing and strafing runs 50 feet above the water. Four Nipponese fighters attempted to intercept them, and one of the Jap planes was probably destroyed.

Mid-Afternoon Raid

The raid, which was carried out in mid-afternoon, brought the B-25s inside the Toroshima Islands, guarding the mouth of the strait, and within easy range of gun batteries on both sides—the heaviest Japanese defenses in the Kuriles.

The Ventura's and Liberators scored hits on enemy vessels and buildings. Navy pilots reported observing fires among shipping after the attack.

The Liberators hit piers and supply dumps in the same area, and pilots said heavy black smoke was seen 40 miles away from the target. No Liberators were damaged.

Among the men who flew B-25s to the target and back were Lieut. Richard V. Gardner, bombardier-navigator, Toledo; Staff Sgt. George F. Burns, gunner, Morris Plains, N. J., who was credited with a "probable" for the Japanese fighter whose crew members believe was shot down; Staff Sgt. John R. MacDonald, engineer-gunner, South Boston, Mass.; Staff Sgt. Leroy A. Metcalf, radio gunner, North Attleboro, Mass.

Members of the other crew included Lieut. William P. Lysaught, bombardier-navigator, Rosedale, Long Island; Tech. Sgt. Emmet E. Blakey, radio gunner, Brooklyn, Mich.; Staff Sgt. William Galewski, Lansing, Mich.; and Staff Sgt. Ralph J. Campitello, engineer-gunner, Wellington, N. J.

Attorney's Death Listed Suicide

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 31.—(INS)—Lieut. (JG) J. Donald Reifsnider, prominent Scranton attorney in civilian life, who was found shot to death behind a billboard in the Green Ridge section, was listed today as a suicide by Lackawanna County Coroner Paul A. Kubasko.

The 36-year-old Navy officer was slated to reappear before a federal grand jury investigating "certain matters" in the federal court of middle Pennsylvania. He had testified last week.

Special Deputy Attorney General M. H. Goldschmidt would not reveal the nature of Reifsnider's testimony.

Reifsnider shot himself behind the right ear with a pistol presented to him by his father, the late Dr. J. C. Reifsnider.

Plan Probe Of 'Day Nurseries'

HARRISBURG, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The Department of Welfare was mapping a campaign today to crack down on "day nursery racket" which have mushroomed in Pennsylvania's industrial sections and prey upon mothers employed in war plants.

Miss Helen Hubbell, supervisor of the Child Welfare Service, said sweeping investigations were under way and local agencies were being requested to join the drive to stamp out unlicensed foster homes.

Remedial legislation aimed at eliminating legal loopholes which permit the racketeers to mulct mothers would be introduced by the department when the 1945 General Assembly convenes.

FORTY-TWO NEW CASES
HARRISBURG, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The State Health Department said today that 42 cases of infantile paralysis were reported during the past 24 hours, boosting the total in Pennsylvania since January 1 to 627.

The department listed cases in 51 of the state's 67 counties. A case was reported in Clarion county for the first time. Of the cases reported yesterday, 31 were in Philadelphia and boosted the county total to 108.

Citizenship Applicant Here Tells Of Working With Hitler Years Ago

Adolf Hitler was always a bum. Don't take our word for it, although we agree with the sentiment. Take the word of Stanley Blazak, of 204 Mahoning avenue. Mr. Blazak should know, for at one time he worked as a painter with Adolf in Germany. Mr. Blazak is a member of the class of applicants for citizenship which was underway in the court house for the first three days of the week.

"Adolf could never get along with the men working with him," said Mr. Blazak. "He was a mean, cross, tempered man, born of a family of moderate means and who had given him a fair education. But Adolf was always the same, a fair painter but what you call a bum."

Young Men Together
Mr. Blazak was born in Russian Poland but as a small boy his parents died and he was taken to Germany. As a young man he learned the painting trade and was employed for a time by a painter who took contracts occasionally, Adolf Hitler.

"I first met him in a little town near Berlin," said Mr. Blazak. "That would be about 1904. He usually wore Bavarian pants which came to the knee and rode a bicycle a great deal. He took a contract to paint a cathedral in Hanover about 1906, and I went along. The cathedral had a large girls' choir and Adolf was smitten with one of them. The affair with the girl ended disastrously for her and Adolf fled back to Austria where he was born."

"Later he came back to Germany and again I worked with him on a church in Schleswig-Holstein. In the people didn't like his work. In 1907 I went back to Russian Poland but returned to Germany in 1908. In 1909 I came to the United States, settled in Philadelphia for a time, then to Donora and in 1914 came to New Castle where I have lived ever since save for three years in Youngstown in the late '20s."

Large Family
Married in 1908 before he came to the United States, Mr. and Mrs. Blazak have raised a family of seven children, four boys and three girls. One of the sons, Albert, is in the armed forces in New Guinea, another, Leo, is in a Texas camp. The other children are married and live here.

Mr. Blazak undoubtedly had no idea when he parted company with Adolf Hitler that his fellow painter would go on to disrupt the peace of the world. Their paths led in widely divergent places, Adolf to his present precarious position and Mr. Blazak to New Castle. Today he is still painting, for he is a good one, and is employed by Mooney Brothers. Adolf will soon be unemployed. Or dead.

SINGING IS HALTED
NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The famous baritone voice of Martial Jean-Paul Singher, a member of the Metropolitan Opera association, will not echo through the portals of his New York apartment. Singher signed an agreement with his noise-hating landlady, Mrs. Harry Goodstein, to abstain from practicing for 30 days.

TIME MARCHES ON
PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—An old timer in Portland is evidently confused as to which Dewey is running for president. With his arms thrown around a lamp-post, he was shouting, "Vote for Dewey! Vote for Dewey! I fought with him at Manila Bay."

The dramatic story of how an American nurse singlehandedly cleaned up a typhoid epidemic and won her own victory over ancient superstition is the theme of tonight's chapter of "Palestine Speaks"—the series of true stories about the world's oldest frontier being presented each Thursday night over Station WKST at 7:15 p. m., under the auspices of the Lawrence County District of the Zionist Organization of America.

Judith Evelyn, star of the Broadway hit "Angel Street" appears as Nurse Rose Nathan in this tense story of a woman alone. Supporting Miss Evelyn are Joseph di Santis, William Woodson, and Ben Grauer of Information Please and the Jergens Journal.

Latest Coal Strike Given President

W.L.B. Turns Western Pennsylvania Tieup Over To President For Action

(International News Service)
The United Mine Workers drive for recognition of supervisory workers today forced nine Western Pennsylvania bituminous pits out of production as the War Labor board referred the situation to President Roosevelt.

It was estimated at least 5,500 men were idle at a cost of nearly 35,000 tons daily to the war effort. Three Cambria county mines yesterday voted to walkout in the District 50 Mine Supervisory Employees Union's drive to force operators into collective bargaining; one mine rejected a strike and the fifth vote was reported to have ended in a tie.

In addition, the Ebensburg No. 1 mine of the Ebensburg Coal company at Colver was placed on the struck list as its 1,000 miners decided to go along with the union movement which, if continued, threatens to close down every large coal operation in Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky and Alabama.

Temporary repair of a broken garden hose can be made by winding friction tape around the break. A more permanent method, however, is to cut off the bad portion and connect the two good ends with a metal splicer.

CHESS TOURNEY AT GETTYSBURG

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Aug. 31.—(INS)—Fifty topnotch players were expected today to participate in the annual Pennsylvania State Chess Federation tournament at Gettysburg September 2-4.

Following a brief business session Saturday, contenders will play chess extending through Labor Day. Players slated to participate included T. C. Gutekunst, of Allentown, 1943 champion; Henry Hesse, of Bethlehem, former state champion, and A. W. Fry, of Hazleton.

George Koltanowski, former world's champion blindfold player is tournament director. William M. Byland, Pittsburgh, is the federation president and D. R. Webb, Waynesboro, vice president.

Meat And Butter Point Values To Remain Same

O.P.A. Makes Announcement Of Ration Point Values For Coming Month

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The Office of Price Administration announced today that meat and butter point values will continue unchanged in September when civilians will receive a slight increase in the over-all supply of meat but 10 per cent less of the better cuts.

Present point values will be maintained next month for beef steaks and roasts of AA (choice), A (good) and B (commercial grades); lamb chops and roasts of AA, A and B grades; and pork hams and loins. All other meats will continue point free, including utility beef and lamb.

Creamery butter will continue at 16 points per pound in the September ration period, although the new point charts have it listed at 20 points. OPA explained that the supply was found to be adequate to maintain current butter values after the charts already had been printed.

The War Food Administration allocated ninety-five million pounds of creamery butter for civilian consumption in September, against one hundred million pounds in the five-week August ration period. The September meat supply, OPA said, will average approximately 284,000,000 a week, against 277,200,000 last month. Although the overall supply will be up two per cent, the supply of better grades costing points will be 10.5 per cent smaller, OPA said.

Effective at 12:01 a. m. Sunday, there will be these following changes in point values of rationed dairy products:

1. The point value of process (re-made) butter will be increased to 12 red points per pound from six points at present.
2. Group III cheeses, such as Swiss, Italian, Munster, Limburger, Camembert, Liederkranz, will increase in value from 8 to 10 points.
3. Ration value of canned milk will go up from 2-3 point per pound to one point.

SERVICE AWARD

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 31.—(INS)—The War Department has granted the ordinance distinguished service award to the Batelle Institute at Columbus, Ohio. Announcement of the recognition was made by Maj. Gen. L. H. Campbell, Jr., chief of ordinance.

The Batelle Institute, a research organization, has been actively engaged in research for the army and navy and other governmental war agencies since the early days of the war. It has conducted research for the ordinance department, the bureau of ships, the army air corps, the Warrenton arsenal, the war production board, the defense plant corp., and the national defense research committee, according to Clyde Williams, director of the institute.

Twenty-three puppies constituted a single litter for a foxhound owned by Newbold Ely, of Ambler, Pa.

POSTWAR PLANS TO BE SUBMITTED

Educational Plans For State Will Be Studied By Department
Of Public Instruction

HARRISBURG, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Postwar educational plans drafted by approximately 35 sub-committees of the State Council of Education will be submitted tomorrow to the Department of Public Instruction. Superintendent Francis B. Haas said today.

"Each of the committees has been working on the plans for more than two months and feeding reports to five study groups," Haas stated. "The plans were expected to embrace Gov. Edward Martin's recommendations calling for a program that must not overburden Pennsylvania taxpayers nor deny any child proper education because of race, color or creed."

The department will outline legislation carrying out the program for consideration by the general assembly in 1945.

The study groups were institutional programs and procedures; school organization and administration; teacher and liberal arts education; pre-professional and professional education; and public literary, museum and historical activities.

A sixth group, headed by Haas, will draft proposed legislation.

Many New-Comers At Old Timers' Day

Many At Gathering Had Not Attended For Years, Or Were There For First Time

If "new old-timers" is a phrase which can be used, then this year's Old Timers' Day was full of them. At least, many of the persons there were either attending for the first time, or for the first time in many years.

For example, there was Bert Peet, who had not been to one of these celebrations for 10 years. He knew plenty about the other days, though, for he was running a street-car back when the first Old-Timers' Day was held.

"I used to dread those days," he said grimly. "The crowds started to come in the morning, and they didn't go home until late evening. You people don't know anything about packed buses, you should have seen those street cars."

William Evans, who worked for 36 years in the tin mill, has just started to come to Old Timers' gatherings. He came up from Beaver Falls for this one.

"Well, I was never old enough before," he commented. "Now I think I am."

S. W. Armstrong, who has lived in almost every region in the country, and who just recently returned from California, came back to this Old Timers' Day to renew friendships he had made when he lived in New Castle between 1876 and 1898.

"I think I was at the first get-together," he said. "But maybe it was the second one."

And that's the way it went. People home from Florida, or up from the Pittsburgh district, or just New Castle people who hadn't been attending for years. Watch them come back to the next one, now that they've started.

Underground In Italy Not Equal To French Force

By GRAHAM HOVEY
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

BRIANCON, ON THE FRENCH-ITALIAN FRONTIER, Aug. 31.—It's the wildest possible type war that's being waged today in this Alpine country where France joins Italy, and the way it has gone to date illustrates the difference between the underground armies of the two countries.

Had the Italian Maquis organized along the practical, well-knit lines which characterize the French forces of the interior, the Germans would not now be looking down our throats from a fort atop the first mountain pass to the north.

As it is, from a few thousand yards away the German 88's are emplaced practically on the border line, whooshing occasional shells over our heads. Their machine pistols are replying at semi-regular intervals to the cough of Maquis Sten guns from within an uncomfortably short distance of this one-time health resort in the Haute Alpes department.

We drove to the front over some of the most rugged Alpine country, thus duplicating in a sense our trip east from the American front lines all the way across the border of Switzerland several days ago.

We were under the impression the Briancon area was held entirely by the FFI and we hoped to see at first hand the accomplishments of the Italian Maquis.

Triumphal Tour
Like the trip to Switzerland, this was something of a triumphal tour, with the French turning out to wave and cheer all along the route despite the fact plenty of American soldiers already had passed through several days ago so that we weren't much of a novelty.

But we didn't get into Italy, as we had hoped. The Germans were in the way. We did, however, find out much about the Italian Maquis and more about the remarkable members of the French underground who still are liberating great portions of France with little assistance.

I was surprised to find American troops operating with the French Maquis out of Briancon in one of those hodge-podge task forces which often is necessary in a fast-moving campaign like this. It was commanded by Lieut.-Col. Harold Bibb, of Silver City, N. M., and included a couple of liaison officers, Lieut. Mario Volpe, of Trenton, N. J., and Charles Gennrich, of 90 Shelley Ave., Yonkers, N. Y.

They parachuted into the area a week before the Riviera landings along with Sergeants William Thompson of Detroit, Mich., and Gerla Bernier, of Hartford, Conn., to assist the Maquis with demolitions and sabotage behind the German lines.

"We had it a little rugged at first, but the Maquis were extremely well organized and did fine work," said Volpe, a former New Jersey state representative.

Volpe revealed the FFI had captured Briancon before the Americans got there, routing one of the Wehrmacht's crack outfits.

"They also captured a town to the south, bagging 81 German prisoners," Gennrich added.

Rebellion Grows Against Hillman
WOONSOCKET, R. I., Aug. 31.—(INS)—The rebellion within CIO ranks against the alleged dictator tactics of Sidney Hillman's political action committee mounted today with the blanket resignation of nine members of the Industrial Trades Union.

The ITU is affiliated with the United Labor PAC, Rhode Island's counterpart of the CIO-PAC.

The latest flareup of open revolt follows the session last week of two Salt Lake City unions, when they severed association with the Hillman group, denouncing it as incompatible with "the freedom of speech and constitutional rights our boys are fighting for."

Announcement of the ITU resignations was contained in a statement signed by 21 members of the committee who "after careful deliberation" asserted that the Hillman "order" to vote the state Democratic ticket or resign was contrary to "the rights of free men."

"As free men we wish to have our rights to vote for whom we please," the announcement stated, continuing: "We knew the workers are intelligent enough to know how to vote without being told."

"We have many Republicans in our organization and we believe that it would not be fair to force them to endorse Roosevelt."

New Castle High To Have Light And Fast Eleven This Season

Walls, Andrews, Flora, Benigas And Panella Have Backfield Edge At Moment

Line Will Not Be As Heavy As Usual, Open With Har-Brack Sept. 8

New Castle high is going to have a football team this fall, that much is certain, but just how good, or how far they will go, with the seven youth class AA games that are on the 1944 card, only time can tell.

This much the writer does know, New Castle has never had a finer and harder working group of oys in camp at Muddy Creek Falls. There are 40 of them and there are 40 eager and hard workers. There is no room for loafers at Muddy Creek Falls, that has been made plain by the coaches.

With 11 varsity posts open this year due to the loss of all of the 1943 letter winners, Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh has made it plain that no places on the first team are apportioned and that anybody showing the proper attitude and fight can fill in on the starting lineup that will face Har-Brack high on Friday night, September 8, under the lights at Taggart stadium.

Light Fast Backfield

Indications point to a light and fast backfield this season. Right now the five who will see the most service in the opening game will be Bill Walls, colored fullback, who is an improved player this year and will be a valuable asset when the curtain goes up. Walls was a reserve last year but did not see a lot of action.

Bill Andrews, the lad who won fame by his place kicking for extra points last year, has won his way into the right-half spot and looks like a fixture. Andrews is rugged and has the dash and pep to make a good ball carrier. He will also be in there pitching passes with the best of them, judging from his camp performances. At the other half-back post will be Anthony "Buzzer" Panella, a trackman and a fast boy in the clear. He is also a reserve from last year and with experience will develop into a good ball lugger.

John Benigas will not doubt be the signal barker and do the blocking. Benigas is another reserve from the 1943 team and needs only regular game experience to make him a valuable asset. Chuck Sallie is giving Benigas a tough fight for the signal calling job. Sammy Flora, a backfield prospect with a lot of color and a reserve from last year, will see a lot of action also. Sammy broke his arm in the Beaver Falls game last year.

Line Not Too Heavy

The line will not be overly heavy this season with big George Williams up from Franklin high as a tackle spot and going over the 200 mark the only big man on the line. At the other tackle will be Lynn Betts, Bill Shaw or Pearson Furst.

with Betts getting the first call due to his experience on the reserve team last year. The guards will be Mustapha Hassan and either Hassan or Green most likely, with all three boys off the reserve team last season. A newcomer, Arthur "Pug" Hill, colored boy, is going to make the other boys step some to hold a regular job. This Hill youngster, up this year from Washington high, shows as much fight as anybody in camp.

The center jobs will go to Joe Kuhn and Dick Fehrenbach with Bob Reed also a possibility. Kuhn will get the first call unless Fehrenbach can show as much zip. Kuhn is a reserve from last year and needs "big game" experience.

The ends will be well taken care of this year and the coaches are satisfied with the end department and when the coaches are satisfied then you have something. It looks like Fred Wimer and Jim Garberry with 1943 experience as reserves have the call over Ed Jackson and "Red" Wilson, but it isn't game time yet and that picture can change.

Boys Can Eat

The workout yesterday consisted mostly of blocking and signal drills, morning and afternoon. It appears that Coach Bridenbaugh is leaving the hard scrimmage work for next week at the stadium.

The photographer was in camp yesterday afternoon and snapped the boys. For supper last night the boys had stuffed pork chops, and tonight it will be chicken. They are being fed well by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner and his assistants. Monday night it was roast beef on the menu, and Tuesday it was baked ham, making you hungry? Well, football players have to be fed when they work out for three hours or more in the afternoon sun it seems to whet their appetites.

Fifty Thousand See Bears Win

All-Stars Give Chicago Bears Tough Battle—Final Score Is 24-21

EVANSTON, Ill., Aug. 31.—(INS)—The Chicago Bears, unbeaten in their four previous appearances in the annual all-star football classic, still boasted a clean slate today following their 24 to 21 defeat of the 1944 collegiate all-star squad.

A rain-drenched capacity crowd of 50,000 sat in Dwyer stadium last night and watched the world champion Bears pull out a narrow victory in the last quarter in a battle which started as if the collegians were going to run wild over the professionals.

The Bears, famed for their devastating defense, were outplayed in the first half, but they came back in the second half to win the game.

Managers Get New Contracts

BOSTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The Boston Braves announced today that Bob Coleman, serving his first season as manager, has been given a new two-year contract. The announcement followed word from the Red Sox office that manager Joe Cronin, whose five-year contract expires this season, had been signed for three more years.

Red goalies have been developed so that eyes can be adapted for night vision more quickly in a lighted room than in darkness.

St. Mary's Wins Playoff Title

Defeat Madonna 10 To 4 In Deciding Game Of Second Half Series Wednesday

St. Mary's won the second half championship in the Catholic Reserve baseball league last night at Lee avenue field before a large crowd by a score of 10 to 4 over the Madonna team. This was the second straight win of the three-game series for the St. Marys team.

Sullivan pitched a fine game for the champions until the third inning when he suffered an injured finger and had to be removed with Campbell finishing and getting credit for the win. Campbell had a fast breaking curve working and fanned 12 Madonna batters. The St. Marys team clouted Magusiak for 16 hits, led by E. Murphy, Rotunno, Campbell, Kelly and Carey. Best in the Madonna lineup was Connet with two hits.

New Meet St. Monicas

The St. Marys team will now contact the St. Monicas of Wampum for the first half champions for a three-game series for the Catholic league championship. Rev. Fr. Francis King will make arrangements for the series in his capacity as president of the Lawrence County Catholic Youth Organization and president of the league.

Yanks Climb To Second Place

Boston Red Sox Are Dropped To Fourth Rung In League Race

By JOHN CASHMAN

(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Although the power of the New York Yankees is diminished, McCarthy's luck—that intimacy with Dame Fortune which has made the veteran manager famous—is not abated.

It took a good Yankee relief pitcher, an eight-run uprising by Cleveland and steady hitting by the Chicago White Sox to boost the Yankees from fourth to second place in the turbulent American League race yesterday. But Lady Luck, often accused by Joe's rivals of straining herself to accommodate the Buffalo Irishman, outdid all her former efforts.

Call Relief Hurler

The relief hurler who gave the Yankees a 9 to 7 triumph over the Boston Red Sox (and dumped the Beantowners into fourth place) was Jim Turner, who now has been pressed into service four times in five days. Jim's moundmate, K. Borowy, was enjoying a comfortable 6 to 1 lead going into the seventh when he suddenly was hit between the eyes by two homers, Jim Bucher and Bob Johnson both homered with one aboard, and Turner was called in to save Borowy's 16th triumph.

Four Boston pitchers were plastered with 16 hits, Emmett O'Neill starting and losing. Bucher walloped two homers and Nick Etten paced the Yankees with a double, triple and two singles.

Steady plugging away by the White Sox gained them an 8 to 3 triumph over the Detroit Tigers, who further aided the Yankees in their pennant ambitions by dropping to third place. The Sox had to hit to win, since winning pitcher Ed Lopat yielded a dozen safeties over the route. Starting flinger Johnny Gorisak was touched for the loss. Chet Ross netted two Detroit runs with a seventh-inning homer.

Eight Run Blast

That eight-run blast, manipulated by Whence Fortune and blessed in the eyes of the Yankees, was pulled by the Cleveland Indians in gaining a 12 to 7 decision over none other than the leading St. Louis Browns. While anxious wires all over the land were prematurely chattering about the Browns' win in view of the 7 to 3 lead the Browns held until that explosion, Lady Luck again stepped in to score again for McCarthy.

Roy Cullenbine took precisely that moment to score his 15th homer of the season to lead off the Cleveland attack. Seven runs then clattered across the plate to give Jim Bagby, the third of four Cleveland hurlers the credit for the win and charge the loss off to George Caster.

The tamer part of the American League saw the Washington Senators win over the Philadelphia Athletics, 9 to 4, in the former's last home stand in Shibe Park. Luke Hamlin was hammered from the mound in the fourth under a five-run barrage to give Emil Leonard the victory.

In the National League Boston defeated New York 4-2; Brooklyn shellacked Philadelphia, 10 to 2 in a night game; and Chicago took both ends of a doubleheader from Pittsburgh, 12 to 5 and 6 to 3. The Cincinnati-St. Louis allright contest was postponed.

Sees Good Season For College Grid

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—John B. Kelly, chairman of the National Committee on Physical Fitness, predicted today that intercollegiate football will have its best season this fall since outbreak of war.

Following a nation-wide survey, Kelly said that the number of top-ranking and secondary collegiate schools playing football this year will total about 300, compared with 235 to 240 last year and less than 225 in 1942.

He said the grid season will be marked by the return to competition by such schools as Syracuse, New York university, Princeton, Harvard and Boston college in the East and a number of leading universities and colleges elsewhere.

Pirates Sign Up Four New Players

Four Youngsters From Albany Club Will Get Try-out With Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Pittsburgh baseball club president William E. Benswanger today announced the purchase of four players from the Albany (N. Y.) club of the Eastern League.

The new Buccaneers were Shortstop Victor Barnhart, whose father, Clyde, was an ace hitter while outfielding for the Corsairs from 1920 to 1928; Outfielder Albert Gionfriddo; Pitcher Leonard Gilmore and Outfielder William Rodgers. The quartet will report to the Pirates following the Eastern League playoffs.

Barnhart Hitter

Barnhart, 22, leads the Eastern League with 105 runs to his credit. His batting average is .320. Gionfriddo of Dyersburg, Pa., hit .318; Gilmore leads the Eastern League hurlers with 19 victories against four defeats and Rodgers, 24, of Harrisburg bats .327.

Earlier, the club announced the purchase of First Baseman Henry Sweeney from the York club of the Class B Interstate League who has a batting average of .337. The 26-year-old, third ranking hitter in his loop, is married and resides in Oil City.

Sherman Field Flyers Winners

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 31.—(INS)—Herman Besse, the peacetime property of the Philadelphia Athletics, was hailed today as the hero of the drive of the Sherman Field Flyers of Fort Leavenworth, Kan., to the national semi-pro baseball championship.

Besse virtually pitched and batted his mates to a 5 to 4 victory over the Enid, Okla., Army air base in the title game last night.

Not only did Besse strike out 13 Enid batters, but he punched out a sharp fourth-inning single that drove in two runs and then garnered another hit in the sixth that placed him in position to score.

Enid used Dwayne Sloat, Carl Keeting and Nick Popovich on the mound in an effort to halt Sherman field, but Popovich alone pitched effectively.

NARROW TREND IN DAY'S MARKET

Volume Is Low And Price Changes Are Only Fractional On Most Stocks

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The stock market moved haltingly along a narrow path today.

Volume was low and price changes in the main were only fractional.

A few peace stocks were in demand, but even this trend was not consistent.

In the mail orders, Montgomery Ward rose 1-4 and Sears 3-4, but such other peace groups as the farm, rail and electrical equipments did little and had their proportionate share of losses.

Leading industrials, such as steels and motors, were down eighths and quarters, with the exception of U. S. Steel, up 1-4.

Rails were mixed. So were the utilities. Oils were generally lower. Sugars were firm.

DENVER ZOO LETS ALL SURPLUS BEARS ROAM IN THE HILLS

DENVER.—(INS)—What to do with surplus animals in an overcrowded zoo?

That was the problem which confronted Superintendent Clyde Hill of the Denver Zoo. The solution was easy, but it might not be a good idea for other cities to follow.

Housing an over-prolific bear colony was a headache until Hill struck upon a happy solution of taking the extra bears to the nearby mountains and turning them loose. Hill first consulted forest service and state game department officials and received their approval of the plan.

FIFTY THOUSAND SEES BEARS WIN

tating aerial attack, had to go back to fundamental football to win, scoring their three-point margin on a well-directed placement goal kick provided by Pete Gudauskas midway in the final quarter.

Henry Margarita speared a punt from Glenn Dobbs, former Tulsa university passing star playing for the all-stars, and ran it back to the Stars' 29-yard line to set things up for the field goal.

Ray McLean added nine yards on an end sweep and Gary Famiglietti smashed through the line for a first down on the Stars' 17-yard stripe. Margarita dashed around end for a 12-yard gain and the Bears had first down on the Stars' 5-yard line.

On a subsequent play, the Bears penalized five yards for off-side, and when the fourth down came up they still were six yards from the goal line. At this juncture, Gudauskas hurriedly was summoned from the bench for the place kick.

Toughest Game

His try, made from a difficult angle and with Quarterback Sid Luckman holding, spun through the up-rights and that was the ball game, for neither side scored afterward.

The Bears, who had won three and tied one of their four previous games, found the 1944 college team just about their toughest assignment at the outset of the battle and were trailing at the wrong end of a 14 to 0 score at the end of the first quarter.

The rain, which began falling copiously before the second half started, slowed up the passing of Ensign Luckman who was playing his last game for the Bears for the duration, and Glenn Dobbs, the Tulsa ace, but in the first half these two put on a scintillating exhibition that kept the big crowd on edge.

Dobbs came through with four straight completions in the first quarter to score the all-stars' first touchdown. Creighton Miller of Notre Dame taking the scoring pass. Later in that session he rifled one to Bill Huber of Notre Dame that set the stage for the second touchdown and the 14 to 0 lead.

Luckman put on his most effective exhibition in the second quarter and figured largely in the advances that squared the count at 14-14.

The third period ended with the score 21-21 and the teams struggled ineffectively in the rain half way through the final period before the Bears were able to set the stage for Gudauskas' field goal that won the game.

AMENDMENTS TO GEORGE BILL FACING DEFEAT

By RAYMOND WILCOVE (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—An economy-minded house was expected to ride roughshod today over amendments designed to liberalize the senate-approved George bill for postwar demobilization and reconversion.

The measure, extensively revised by the house ways and means committee, was slated to be approved tomorrow and submitted to a conference committee next week, following a Labor Day recess, to reconcile house-senate differences.

It continues the Office of War Mobilization for one year after the war, sets up a federal fund from which states can borrow to maintain their unemployment compensation systems and authorizes federal loans to public agencies to stimulate planning for postwar public works.

To Submit Amendments

Rep. Eberhart (D) Pa., said advocates of more liberal provisions would submit a series of amendments designed to provide more federal aid in the postwar reconversion period.

These were expected to include the following amendments:

(1) To establish a national standard of unemployment compensation for jobless war workers of $20 a week maximum, payable for not more than 26 weeks; (2) to extend state jobless benefits to three and a half million federal workers; (3) to furnish federal grants, rather than loans, for public works planning; (4) to authorize the federal works administrator to furnish transportation to their homes for stranded war workers.

Eberhart said he would also propose extension of the act to two years after the war instead of one year.

Other Proposals

Rep. Celler (D) N. Y., announced he would submit proposals for a national standard of $25 maximum for civilians and $35 for veterans and other provisions similar to those included in the Kilgore-Murray bill, which was defeated by the senate.

The proposal for $20 maximum weekly benefits was slated to be made by Rep. Dingell (D) Mich.

Rep. Fish (R) N. Y., told the house also that he proposed to introduce an amendment providing for the mustering out of the armed services of all married men 35 and over within 30 days after the termination of the war with Germany.

A coalition of conservative Democrats and Republicans gave here they were prepared to oppose all the amendments. The stiffest battle was expected to be over amendments to extend state benefits to federal employees, a provision deleted from the original George bill, and to provide grants rather than loans for public works.

The other liberalizing amendments were given little chance of success.

Charges Byrnes To Be Supplanted

Congressman Asserts Wallace Or Hillman Will Replace O.W.M. Director

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—(INS)—Rep. Simpson (R) Pa., charged on Wednesday in the house that former Justice James F. Byrnes is to be supplanted as director of the office of war mobilization by either vice president Wallace or Hillman, chairman of the CIO political action committee.

Simpson said he had learned this "on the highest authority," but did not amplify his statement.

Byrnes' dismissal, he added, will be followed by "a cracking down on business."

Charging Hillman with having blocked the nomination of Byrnes as the Democratic vice presidential candidate, Simpson declared "what Sidney Hillman can do in Chicago, he can do in Washington."

Earlier, during a flurry of debate over Hillman Rep. Rankin (D) Miss., demanded that both the Republican and Democrat parties "repudiate" the CIO leader and "carry on an American campaign."

"Let's make the Democratic party decent," he declared, in reply to a defense of Hillman by Rep. Celler (D) N. Y.

Celler, decriing Republican attacks on Hillman's foreign origin, said it was "altogether different" when Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee "received $5,000 for his campaign for district attorney of New York."

Hillman, during an appearance Monday before a house committee, testified that his union, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, contributed $5,000 to Dewey's campaign for district attorney.

Rep. Wright (D) Pa., told the house that if the Republican party attempted to capitalize on Hillman's foreign birth "the American people will repudiate them."

Hear Report That Von Kluge Is Dead

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The British radio quoted the Stockholm newspaper Svenska Dagbladet as reporting that Field Marshal Guenther von Kluge, recently named German commander in chief in France has died at Adolf Hitler's headquarters "as the result of a heart attack."

BBC also passed on reports that Von Kluge had committed suicide following a nervous breakdown or had died of a war wound.

CBS heard the broadcast.

Frail Men And Women Doing Good War Work

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Frail men and women are doing work in foundries, particularly where little or no brawn is required—and they are sticking to their jobs.

—The War Manpower Commission reported today.

WMC cited instances in Pennsylvania in which men and women of light weight are helping to meet military requirements for such essential items as bombs, trucks, heavy tires, heavy guns and radar equipment.

A foundry in Harrisburg has 350 women on the payroll and in Philadelphia, a woman weighing 119 pounds is doing a real foundry job.

The champion forger at a Chester chain and forge plant is a 70-year-old man weighing 118 pounds. This man is making records in open hammer forging, one of the heaviest of operations.

A big steel company at Eddystone said that some of its best men weigh no more than 125 pounds. WMC reported. Another steel plant, in Lansdowne, employed a corps of high school boys who volunteered for work in the foundry during vacation from school.

Secretary Hull Warns Germans On Warsaw Plan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—(INS)—A strong warning that the Germans will be held strictly to account for their attempt to exterminate the civilian population of Warsaw was issued today by Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

In a formal statement concerning charges made by the Polish exile government that the civilian population of Warsaw is about to be wiped out in a "wholesale slaughter camp" 15 miles from the Polish capital, Hull said:

"The Polish government has communicated to this government details of the unprecedented brutality with which Germans are acting against the unarmed and helpless civilian population of Warsaw. This communication states that without regard for age or sex, tens of thousands of innocent men, women and children are being herded into concentration camps, where, under appalling conditions of want, they are being tortured and left to die."

"We have repeatedly warned the Germans of the certain consequences of the inhuman act of this character. Those guilty of the present outrages against the civilian population of Warsaw will not escape the justice they deserve."

NEW YORK.—(INS)—As if the summer heat weren't bad enough—the summer other day the radiators in his Bronx apartment have hissed and gurgled with a mid-winter supply of steam, Jacob Becher, 71, told Magistrate Ambrose J. Haddock.

Becher, who characterized the situation as "untold agony," obtained a summons charging the superintendent of the 30-family building with furnishing heat in June, July and August "detrimental to the life and health of the tenants."

The superintendent laid it all to faulty valves.
